24th Anniversary, GIs Are Attacked

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong marked the 24th anniversary of the start of the Indochina war today with two attacks on U.S. troops and the first rocket attack in Saigon in a month and a half.

There were no American casualties from the two 100-pound rockets that fell in Saigon, but six Vietnamese civilians were killed and eight wounded by the missiles. Most of the victims were children.

Four other youths were wounded in a bomb explosion that damaged a Saigon Vietnamese language newspaper plant.

One of the two attacks on American forces was a 12-round mortar barrage that hit the headquarters of the 2nd Brigade of the 25th Infantry Division 40 miles northeast of Saigon. Spokesmen said some Americans were killed and wounded, but they gave no figures. They said, over-all casualties were light.

The second attack on Americans was an ambush of a U.S. convoy near the Hai Van pass 13 miles northwest of Da Nang. One American was killed and four were wounded. U.S. headquarters said. Damage to the convoy was said to be light.

There has been a series of anti-American demonstrations and terrorist bombings in Saigon, and U.S. and South Vietnamese security has been tightened with measures including stepped-up patrols by American military police.

Three Americans have been killed and 14 wounded in the past week in three terrorist bomb and grenade attacks aimed at U.S. billets in Saigon. The American casualties in today's actions added to the 4,144 U.S. troops already reported killed and the 292,917 reported wounded in action in the 16 years Americans have been fighting in Indochina.

The number of Vietnamese civilian casualties in the past five years is estimated at more than one million, including at least 300,000 killed.

Today is officially commemorated by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong as National Resistance Day. It was on Dec. 19, 1946, that North Vietnamese Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap issued a call to arms and Vietnamese troops attacked French colonial forces in Hanoi, triggering the Indochina war.

National Resistance Day is one of three holidays the Communist-led forces will observe during the next four days. Traditionally, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces shell major cities and step up terror attacks to mark these anniversaries.

On Sunday, the Viet Cong will observe the 10th anniversary of the formation of the National Front for the Liberation of South Vietnam. The NLF was established in Hanoi on Dec. 20, 1960.

Tuesday is People's Army Day, the 26th anniversary of the North Vietnamese army.

West Point of S. Vietnam... Graduation Climaxed by Mock Battle

DA LAT, Vietnam (AP) — Bursting from a papier-mache jungle, troops in Viet Cong battle dress charged across the open field, knocked down the flagpole in the movie-set village and laid siege to the cardboard fort.

Machine guns chattered, spitting fire. Big guns boomed, officers shouted orders and multi-colored rockets whooshed through the air. Three radio-controlled model planes buzzed overhead, providing "air cover."

The crowd of 2,000 onlookers oohed, aahed and cheered, rooting for the government forces as the battle raged before them on the parade ground of Vietnam's national military academy.

Any real Viet Cong watching from the jungled hills overlooking this picturesque highlands city presumably were rooting for the other side.

As might be expected, the Viet Cong team lost.

Melodramatic and often comic, the mock battle was the climax of ceremonies marking the graduation of 241 cadets, members of the second four-year class of officers produced by South Vietnam's version of West Point.

The spectators included some of the highest-ranking officers of the South Vietnamese, U.S. and allied forces, top government officials and members of the Saigon diplomatic corps.

For the academy's cadets, the battle was a morality play that showed, in microcosm, the war in Vietnam and how the government trains them to fight it.

Scene one: The door of a false-front house opens and a village elder—portrayed by a cadet wearing a Ho Chi Minh beard and favoring an aching back—staggers forth to hoist the morning flag in the village of Tu Luc, which means self-reliance.

Women in conical hats gather in the village market to sell vegetables, the men gather to drink and talk and the children romp off to the school.

Scene two: Enter the villains. The Viet Cong, firing their weapons and shouting, charge out of their jungle base camp and capture Tu Luc.

Political cadre wearing red armbands round up the villagers for a propaganda lecture, while the soldiers race on toward the fort—representing the district headquarters—where government troops and pacification workers wait behind their revetments.

In a frenzy of shooting and shouting, the Viet Cong attack, are repulsed, regroup and attack again. Finally they fall back, collecting and carrying their "casualties" as real Viet Cong units customarily do whenever possible.

The troops retreat through the village, pausing only to kidnap some villagers to use as bearers, and return to their jungle hideout.

As the government troops move out after them, the governments black-clad RD (revolutionary development) pacification team marches into the village, restores order and calms the people. Some troops lay aside their M16 rifles and cavort with the children.

A new attack is launched by the Viet Cong. One of the miniature model aircraft zipping overhead is "shot down" and plunges into the ground—presumably a sacrifice by its owner to greater realism.

The government troops, now defending the village from behind barricades, lock in a swirl of hand-to-hand combat with the enemy. Many Viet Cong are killed, others captured. Those who do not flee are welcomed to the government side as "hoi chanhs," or returnees.

Polish Curfew in Force, Fear Riots in 5th City

WARSAW (AP) — After quelling mobs with rifle fire in the nation's biggest shipyards, police and troops in Poland have placed another darkness curfew on the country's rebellious northern cities. Rioting reportedly spread to a fifth city Friday, but there were no confirmed reports of new violence today.

Quoting newspaper accounts, Radio Gdansk reported Friday night that some of the thousands of rioters in the Gdynia shipyards fired on the troops and police. "There could have been only one reply to this," the broadcast said, "a resolute action."

Gdansk, Gdynia and Sopot, clustered beside the Bay of Danzig, were torn by rebellious mobs early in the week. The fighting spread to Szczecin, 180 miles to the west, and outbreaks were reported Friday at Slupsk, a city of light industry 60 miles east of Szczecin. Authorities reportedly used tear gas at Slupsk to restore order.

The government says up to 20 persons have died in the confrontations, and hundreds have been injured.

Radio Warsaw said the Polish news agency PAP reported that "calm prevailed in the whole of the triple cities" today, with supply trade and transportation working normally and 15 ships being loaded at the docks.

"There's some traffic in the streets, and restaurants and public places are opened," the broadcast said. It then quoted a warning to rebellious youth from a local newspaper:

"Recent events disclosed the painful fact that many people still see their own interest overshadowing the public good." We shall have to revise our attitude toward our youth, who proved they don't know how to behave. Many of the looted things are being returned. Mothers have brought back things stolen in the shops by their children."

Broadcast monitors in West Germany said there were no mention of the disturbances in early morning transmissions of other Polish stations.

The Communist party newspaper Trybuna Ludu conceded that the government's increase in food prices of as much as 20 per cent prompted the riots, though it said those who rioted spontaneously did so out of misinformation.

"Instigators took advantage of the change in retail prices introduced a few days ago" either "by disorientation" or "cold premeditation and hate toward People's Poland," the newspaper said.

With the tense quiet prevailing in the country today, there were rumors throughout the capital of planned strikes at several factories in protest to the price changes.

Rioters at Szczecin destroyed the city's Communist party headquarters, and the party's youth newspaper Sztandar Mlodych appealed today for an end to the vandalism.

The Trybuna Ludu editorial was reprinted without separate editorial comment in the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, the only Soviet paper to mention the riots today.

Previously the only mention in Moscow of the Polish disturbances was a short PAP article in Pravda on Thursday.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, distributed both reports, the text of an address by Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz of Poland ordering militiamen to shoot on sight persons destroying property and a decree of emergency adopted by the Polish Council of Ministers.

Car, Bus Collision

Man Killed, 20 Hurt in Orange

By JON POWERS

HIGHLAND FALLS

One person was killed and 20 others sustained minor injuries when a car and bus collided Friday night near this Orange County Community.

According to State Police from Newburgh, the accident occurred at 8 p. m. Friday on Route 293 in the Town of Highlands, about one half mile west of Route 9W.

Killed in the crash was Herbert Burns, 58, of 51 Green Street, Goshen, the driver of the vehicle. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Coroner's Physician Dr. Grover Sprague of Newburgh, State Police told The Freeman.

A passenger in Burns' auto was also injured, Ruby Alexander, 41, of Highland Falls sustained a fractured jaw and fractured right leg.

Police said the vehicles collided head-on. Probable cause of the accident, noted troopers, was Burns' failure to keep to the right.

Eighteen passengers in the bus, as well as its driver, Wayne Reynolds, 23, of Cochocton, were taken to the United States Military Academy Hospital at West Point. Twelve were treated and released, said police, with the rest being admitted for observation and further treatment. None were seriously injured, stated authorities.

State Police said that the passengers aboard the chartered Mid-Hudson Transit bus from Mahwah, N. J., were all from Germany.

A 24-year-old Staatsburg woman sustained multiple abrasions and lacerations and a fractured left leg after she was struck by a car operated by Thomas Richard, 31, of Staatsburg at about 11 p. m. Friday on Route 9 in the Town of Hyde Park.

Police said the two were riding together when they reportedly had an argument. Jane Thayer, Box 146, Route 9, got out of the vehicle and started walking along the highway. She was then struck by the car.

Richards was cited by Rhinebeck State Police for operating without a license and driving while intoxicated. Northern Dutchess Hospital authorities in Rhinebeck said the woman's condition today was not available.

In another area overnight accident, Edward J. McCormack, 22, of New Hyde Park sustained a fractured nose and facial lacerations after his car collided with an auto exiting from the Caldor parking lot on Route 9W in the Town of Ulster at 6:20 p. m. Friday.

State Police from Lake Katrine said that an auto driven by William Scully, 38, of Grahamsville pulled out of the parking lot and failed to yield the right of way to McCormack's vehicle.

No summonses were issued. McCormack was treated at Benedictine Hospital and later released.

Freezing overnight rains in the Kingston area caused hazardous driving on most highways. Police authorities urged motorists to drive with extreme caution throughout today.

WINTERLUDE—If winter always looked this calm and peaceful, Ulster County citizens wouldn't have a thing to grumble about. The aftermath of Thursday's heavy blizzard left serene scenes like this throughout the county. This serenity, however, may be shortlived, with weather reports calling for freezing rain and some snow tonight and throughout the weekend. This home on the banks of the Sawkill Creek near Woodstock may not look the same by Sunday. (Freeman photo by Haines.)

Church News Crismon Rites At Stone Ridge

STONE RIDGE — The Rondout Valley United Methodist Church, Route 209, Stone Ridge, will present its annual Crismon Service, Sunday, 7:30 p.m.

This is a unique and especially beautiful Christmas service during which a large tree is decorated with special decorations, called Crismons, which have been hand-made by the women of the church. The gold and white decorations are made in the form of various symbols of Christ and as the tree is decorated with them, a narrator explains the significance of each. The word Crismon is a shortening of the two words "Christ Monogram," and so with the decorating the meaning of Christ's life is retold. The Rondout Valley Church Choir, under the direction of Walter Highland and with Mrs. Barbara Lottridge at the organ, will sing special Christmas music. There will be refreshments and a social hour after the service.

Advent Cantata At Redeemer This Sunday

KINGSTON

At the 10:45 a.m. service Sunday the senior choir of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers Streets, the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor, will present another "sermon-in-song," an advent cantata, Rejoice Beloved Christmas, by Dietrich Buxtehude (1637-1707), under the direction of J. Anthony Hummel, Jr. Solo parts will be sung by Sylvia Wiebke, soprano; Paul Markle, bass; and a duet by Caroline Legg and Margaret Roosa. Lelia Decker will be at the organ.

The composition was written for presentation at the twilight hour at St. Mary's Church, Lubek, Germany during the Sundays in advent. So popular did this "Abendmusik" become that J. S. Bach took a leave of absence and walked two hundred miles to hear it.

At 4:30 p.m. in the afternoon the traditional Christmas pageant and tree-lighting for the Church School will be held in the sanctuary. The event includes the Christmas story in song and action with angel procession and music by the youth choir, under the direction of Cecelia Keehn accompanied by Charlyn Herdman.

Music Feature At Alliance For Christmas

KINGSTON

A Christmas cantata, Glory to God will be presented by the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church choir Sunday 11 a.m.

The presentation will be under the direction of Gilbert A. Cicio, minister of music and the Rev. George B. Osborne, pastor, will serve as narrator. Featured soloists will be DeForest Shaver, bass, Mrs. George Osborne, soprano and Mrs. Orville Massey, soprano. The children's choir will take part also.

The annual Sunday school presentation will be held Sunday 7 p.m. with a message by the pastor on What Kind of Gift, God So Loved the World is the theme of the Sunday school program which is under the direction of Mrs. Eugene O'Dell Sr. and Mrs. Frank Rougier. Cicio will be accompanist. Refreshments and exchange of gifts will follow the program.

Friendship Dinner

A Friendship Dinner will be served at the Franklin Street AME Zion Church, 26 Franklin Street, Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. The event is sponsored by the Christian Men of the church and is open to the public. The main course will be baked ham.

Regents Board Asks More Money

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Board of Regents, despite an overall state economy drive, asked Friday that another $2 million be added to their previous request for additional aid to private higher education.

Gov. Rockefeller told the Regents a few weeks ago that the state dollar is in short supply, but the board asked that its so-called Bundy Program be increased more than planned.

The program amounted to $26 million in the current fiscal year and is to go to $41 million next year. Instead the Regents asked for $43 million saying the extra aid is needed for doctoral programs.

Chancellor Joseph W. McGovern issued a statement that the Regents seek additional money "because of additional information which pointed to the inadequacy of the earlier recommendation."

Last month, the regents made their formal proposal to Rockefeller and the legislature saying private colleges and universities should be given more state financial assistance.

They asked specifically that Bundy formula aid be increased as follows:

- $800 for each bachelor's degree, instead of the present $400.
- $600 for each master's degree, instead of the present $400.
- $300 for each associated degree. No payment is made at present.

Bundy aid goes to institutions for degrees awarded.

The Regents originally asked no change in aid for doctoral degrees. Friday, they asked that doctoral aid be increased from $2,400 to $3,000.

The Regents did not explain their "additional information."

The Regents proposal follows the report by the Carnegie Commission that two-thirds of the

Town Roads Are All Open In Saugerties

SAUGERTIES

In response to numerous complaints about the condition of the town roads, especially in the Barclay Heights area, Superintendent of Highways Charles E. Bach told The Freeman that all town roads are now open.

He noted there had been some difficulty where roads were originally opened after the storm and closed up again when county snowplows went through the intersection.

In the matter of town roads in the developments at Barclay Heights, he said he also received complaints and in those areas he ordered town equipment in to "clean up the mess."

Bach said the town is operating under a handicap as three trucks had broken down and could not be used. Actually, the town needs two new trucks to replace some of the old equipment, he said. In the fall the town advertised for bids and these were rejected by the Town Board because one did not meet specifications and the other could not promise delivery until March.

The superintendent said he is currently working on new specifications and bids will again be advertised.

Councilman George Turner said he had also received complaints and made an on-site inspection at various Barclay Heights areas to determine what could be done. He noted some of the lanes plowed were narrow and these must be widened.

Turner said there were three contractors responsible for the plowing and sanding of town roads in the Barclay Heights and Glasco areas and only one of these contractors has not been doing a thorough job.

As soon as the major storm had subsided early Thursday morning, town equipment was on the highways but could only open one lane at that time in order to get to everybody. Later these lanes were widened, it was reported.

SAFE LANDING — With part of its main landing gear still up in the belly of the plane, an American Airlines 747 makes a safe landing (top) at Kennedy Airport. The affected wheels cannot be seen in this photo. At bottom, some of the 138 persons aboard leave the plane, which was en route from New York City to Los Angeles, Calif., when the pilot noticed one set of wheels had not retracted properly. # Fireman Thanks New York Police; Found Kidnaped Baby Unharmed

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 3-month-old boy kidnaped Friday from his carriage in front of a Brooklyn store was found safely by police at about 7:30 a.m. today in a subway station in Brooklyn.

The child, son of a city fireman who had pleaded with the kidnaper for his return, was taken to Sister Elizabeth Hospital to be reunited with his mother.

The boy, Gregory Woods, was found on the station steps apparently unharmed and dressed in the snowsuit he wore when he was abducted.

A cardboard note attached to the boy's snowsuit said, "The Woods' baby." John Kopp, Brooklyn trustee of the Uniformed Firefighters' Association, said:

"Gregory, son of Fireman John Woods, was the subject of a search involving police from all over the city and Woods' fellow firemen."

"I mean this from my heart," Kopp said. "This is the greatest police department in the world. I have never seen such an army of men go out like this. I personally feel speaking for the Uniformed Firefighters."

He said the 11,000 firemen wanted "to come out and tear this whole town apart."

Police theorized that a "frustrated" motherly woman Angela Woods, and his sister Doreen, 4, were inside buying of an F.W. Woolworth's store in wrapping paper.

Prisoner Ransom List Obtained by Swiss

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The kidnapers of Swiss Ambassador Giovanni Bucher have submitted a list of 70 prisoners they want released as ransom, and Brazil's president met with his cabinet today to consider its authenticity.

The list was delivered to a news agency after an anonymous telephone tip Friday and was then turned over to the government of President Emilio Garrastazu Medici. Along with the list was a note that said Bucher, kidnaped Dec. 7, would be freed unharmed after the prisoners arrived either in Cuba or Algeria.

Authorities said privately that they were holding talks with the Algerian and Chilean embassies to arrange political asylum for the prisoners and to fly them out of Brazil. Brazil does not have diplomatic relations with Cuba, but Chile does.

The list of prisoners included: Nancy Mangabeira Unger, a Brazilian-American accused of plotting the kidnap of a U.S. consul; Jean-Marc von der Weid, a Swiss-Brazilian; Jorge Medeiros do Vale, a banker turned terrorist; and Rhonine Sonde Cavalcanti Silva, the first Brazilian in recent years sentenced to life imprisonment for terrorism.

The lack of such a list had been an obstacle in negotiations for the diplomat's release. The kidnapers had previously refused to provide one unless the government stated publicly that it was willing to make the exchange.

The note made no mention of other previous demands by the terrorists, which had included publication of a revolutionary manifesto and free passage on Rio suburban trains during negotiations. The government balked at those conditions but indicated that it would exchange the prisoners.

Police had received a list of prisoners, earlier but they said it was not authentic. The kidnapers also denied that list was theirs.

School Study Panel: No Interim Report

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The chairman of the so-called Fleischmann Commission says the special study panel has no intent of grinding out hasty answers to the serious problems faced by local school districts in New York State.

Manly Fleischmann, who heads the Temporary State Commission to Study the Cost, Financing and Quality of Elementary and Secondary Education, commented Friday in response to a query by The Associated Press.

Fleischmann indicated that there has been a "misunderstanding" concerning the timetable for commission recommendations.

He said he had made it clear that a final report would be made in the fall of 1971 and added that it was doubtful that any interim study would be submitted to the next legislature.

"It would be an inferior product if we put out a report for the '71 session," Fleischmann maintained. "We are committed to making this the best report time and money can make."

The commission was created by the 1969 legislature to consider a major overhaul of the way in which elementary and secondary education throughout the state is financed and how it could be improved. The panel owes its existence mainly to Gov. Rockefeller and the Board of Regents, governing body of all education in New York.

Since the commission members were designated just over a year ago, the panel has been looked upon as the keeper of the keys for practically every dilemma confronting pre-college education in the state.

By and large, this has been reduced to coming up with new formulas for cost-sharing between Albany and the local school districts, which have run into a growing tide of home-owner anger over annual increases in property taxes.

During the 1970 legislative session, there was a strong inference at the Capitol that Fleischmann recommendations were only a year away and that, therefore, an interim approach would be taken then to what was generally summed up as a crisis in school financing.

The financial dilemma now they go into the 1971 session appears worse, however, as Rockefeller takes a cupboard-is-bare stance concerning all state spending for the next fiscal year.

Inevitably, this raised the question about what the special commission would be proposing.

Fleischmann's response is that panel studies should be carried to their conclusion and that no aspect should be singled out for an interim recommendation.

In other words, the target date for the commission findings remains next fall, even though some lawmakers and state officials might be inclined to shunt responsibility onto the panel as they go into the 1971 session with state funds in short supply.

"The more we looked at the possibility of some interim reports on parts of the problem," Fleischmann said, "the more we saw it couldn't be done."

Smoke Damage At Paltz Fire

NEW PALTZ

Heavy smoke damage was reported to an unoccupied apartment at 168 Main Street in New Paltz early today after a small fire erupted in a kitchen oven, according to Fire Chief John Taylor.

Taylor said that the fire extinguished by itself, but continued to smolder, filling the apartment with smoke. Occupants of the apartment, it was noted, were not at home at the time of the fire.

New Paltz fire fighters were called out at 6 a.m. All equipment was returned to the firehouse by 7:30 a.m.

Charges against Cole were driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident, resisting arrest and second degree assault.

According to police records, Cole has a lengthy record, including a previous conviction on Jan. 24, 1969, when he was fined $50 or a 30-day jail sentence, for driving while intoxicated. His driver's license was suspended at that time. Records also noted that the man had been convicted of third degree assault, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, harassment and other charges.

City Beat

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Freeman City Hall Reporter

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Freeman City Hall Reporter

BACK IN THE DAYS of the Great Society, one could almost hear the howls of anguish from the White House at budget time.

The script used to go like this.

Act One: LBJ sees rising costs. Sees no way to keep budget under $150 billion (we're using an arbitrary figure).

Act Two: President slicing budget. Howls from department heads.

Act Three: President brings in $135 billion budget. Saves taxpayers, oodles. Hail to the chief!

Meanwhile, back in Kingston, Mayor Francis R. Koenig has begun to unveil his 1971 budget. At this point, it is curiously incomplete. One gets the impression that Koenig has six weeks to draw up the final figures. In fact, he has only about ten days. He'll probably hold his public hearing on the 28th or 29th at city hall. And that requires a complete budget.

WHAT WE HAVE now closely resembles Act One of the LBJ Budget Story. We are at the "mounting costs, can't do anything about it" stage.

It is all very frightening. Initial reports indicate an increase in spending of about $625,000 which means an increase in spending on the part of the taxpayer of about $15 per thousand.

First of all, let's look at those "requests for increases." They are only that, "requests," and judging from the Mayor's statements, preliminary ones at that.

KOENIG HAS indicated (there's that word again) that he hasn't had much of a chance to really review those requests but when he does he'll be using a sharp pencil to get down to the "nitty-gritty." Ergo, those "requests" will be cut considerably.

And one shouldn't feel sorry for the department heads who made the initial requests which we're now reading about. Our city department heads are a wily bunch. They know that anything they ask for as openers will be chopped down. Solution? Ask for more than you need. Some people call it collective bargaining.

REALISTICALLY, though, we can probably expect an increase in city spending in the neighborhood of about half a million dollars based on last year's increase $425,000 plus about 10 per cent, thanks to our old buddy, inflation. The city isn't immune, it can't provide next year's services at last year's prices.

So following the LBJ script, we can expect cuts and howls from department heads, though maybe not too much of the latter. City officials in the Koenig Administration haven't been overly talkative. They weren't that vocal in the Raymond W. Garrahan administration, either. We remember a memo once passed around by the immediate past mayor to his department heads to the effect that no one talked to the press unless they talked to Hizzoner first. The mayor, however, filled the void.

The flip side of the fiscal record, is of course, revenues, and that is an area where the mayor can exhibit genuine alarm. From what we've seen, if Rocky doesn't come through, we're through.

Right now the city raises only about 45 per cent of its own revenues. The rest comes from the state and federal governments. Or as Orrie Riehl, city treasurer, has put it more than once, "If the state doesn't get it, we don't get it."

Koenig is looking for about half a million (there's that figure again) in new revenue from the state.

If he doesn't get it, he may have to blame Rocky for the budget gap. After all, John Lindsay has made a career of it. The Rock, of course, has been hitting up the federal government for another billion. If he can't make ends meet, he'll blame Nixon. Poor Richard.

REVENUES, of course, will decide what the new tax rate will be, not expenditures. Expenditures are controllable to a degree. Revenues aren't except by increasing taxes. Sometime next week the mayor will confront his department heads and get down to the nitty-gritty.

That script will go something like this: "If you think I'm going to raise taxes by $15 a thousand, you're out of your collective skulls. We have this much to spend and that's what we're going to spend. Period."

Or from another angle: If the mayor intends to run for reelection in 1971, he'd better get that tax rate down. Not to mention the Common Council, several members of which are less than automatic for reelection next time around.

We'll guess that all the pre-budget publicity will add up to either a slight tax increase or a slight drop. But nothing drastic.

Now this is not to say that Mayor Koenig is pulling an LBJ with his budget. Koenig has never impressed us as a flim-flam artist. . . . But the script sure sounds familiar.

THE OLD PRO—One of our favorite characters at city hall (or in the vicinity of) is Jim Brett, the fire chief. It is said that the chief's bark is worse than his bite. Don't believe it. The chief can bite rather well when the occasion warrants.

This particular occasion deals with the infamous snorkel truck the city ordered almost three years ago. Brett (and the commissioners) have rejected it twice for failure to meet specifications.

Newburgh wasn't as lucky or as smart as Kingston's fire officials. They took delivery on a $60,000 snorkel truck in 1965. It still doesn't work right and the city is out $20,000 in remodeling costs to squeeze the thing into one of its fire-houses.

Newburgh Fire Chief Ben Reed called the truck "five years of utter disaster." He said the city of Kingston purchased a snorkel and "can't make it work either."

Ah, but we didn't purchase it, Chief Reed. Chief Brett doesn't purchase equipment that doesn't work.

Changes Reflect Lower Woodstock Taxes

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK

"The difference is the tax facts for Woodstock between this year and last means a tremendous drop for art colony homeowners!"

That's the "in a nutshell" summation of the town's Board of Assessors as the three-man agency reflects on what was accomplished by the sweeping changes made this year in assessment figures.

Why did taxes for homeowners drop so drastically? Mainly because assessors used new assessment figures: came up with an assessment rate of 50 this year as compared to 13 for last year. That put Woodstock's State Equalization rate at a previously unthought of 69 for 1970-71 — a far cry from the 1969-70 rate of 13.

Untapped Sources

In addition, assessors picked up increased tax revenues from previously untapped sources, including undeveloped land, local business and industry, and people who had not appeared on the tax rolls previously.

Said Democratic Assessor William Kronenberg this week, "We predicted a tremendous drop in taxes last June, but our critics kept insisting that it couldn't be done. Ever since we took office (Kronenberg and Irwin Goldstein, both Democrats, won upset victories over their Republican opponents during the last town election), we've heard the age-old lament that 'nothing can be done about taxes.' Still, we feel we've proved in Woodstock that plenty can be done, if it's done properly."

Goldstein and Kronenberg, along with fellow assessor George Eichler, began moving toward tax reform by using new assessment figures: came with in $1 of the published figure they had ultimately predicted. They point out that Woodstock taxes would have gone up this year by 20 per cent, based on the old system of assessment—and on increased school and town budgets. But by drastically changing the assessment rate locally and forcing a change in the equalization rate from the state, the new figures will mean that the majority of Woodstock homeowners will pay no more than last year (or no increase whatsoever), and a great many art colony homeowners will pay less.

Final figures verifying this will be released next month by the assessors. Meanwhile, Kronenberg, Goldstein and Eichler have drawn up a Tax Fact Sheet for Woodstock homeowners by school districts that verifies their prediction.

Three School Districts

Woodstock youngsters, depending on where they live in the township, attend either Ontario, Kingston or Saugerties schools. Homeowners in the three school districts last year all had the same assessment rate of 13 and the same state equalization rate of 13. This year the assessment rate of all three is 50 and the state rate 69.

That means Ontario residents last year paid $166.24 school tax per 1,000 assessment; this year will pay only $33.86. For those whose school taxes go to Kingston, it means only $34.20 per 1,000 assessment this year as compared to $184.29 last year. And for those in the Saugerties district, it means a drop from $130.31 per 1,000 in 1970 to only $25.33 for 1971.

Decreases are also reflected in next year's county and town tax for homeowners in all three school districts in Woodstock. Last year everyone was billed at $112.05 in all districts per 1,000 assessment. The new rate will be a low $21.59 per 1,000 assessment on county and town tax.

Overall, then, total taxes per 1,000 assessment are as follows: For Ontario, only $55.49 this year as compared to last year's $278.29; for Kingston, down from $296.34 in 1970 to $55.79 in 1971; for Saugerties, it means a drop from $242.36 last year to $46.92 next year.

Example Cited

To further clarify the new tax facts, Kronenberg cited an example of a home valued at $10,000 in 1969-70. Assessed at the old rate of 13 per cent, an owner in the Ontario district paid total taxes of $361.96 last year. Under the new assessment rate of 50 per cent, the same homeowner will be paying only $277.45 in total tax this coming year—or a difference of between $84 and $85. The Kingston School District resident in Woodstock, who also owned a home valued at $10,000, paid $385.23 total taxes under 1970's 13 per cent assessment rate; will be paying $278.95 now under the new 50 per cent rate.

Similarly, the Woodstock homeowner whose school taxes emanate from the Saugerties District, found himself paying total taxes of $315.05 in 1970, if his home was valued at $10,000. In the year ahead, his total tax will be only $234.60 in view of the new assessment rate.

Even so there's a further surprise in store for Woodstock homeowners, says Kronenberg. If they have escrow accounts, they may very well be able to give themselves a Christmas present by checking with their banks. They will be able to have their payments reduced and will be entitled to a refund, he says.

He cited a recent case in point: a typical taxpayer with a $15,000 house reduced his payments by $240 a year, with monthly payments dropping $20 from $160 to $140.

For Woodstock's Board of Assessors, then, a feeling of accomplishment as the first year of town-wide reassessments ends. "We've gotten a lot of criticism, and little has been said that's favorable," says Kronenberg. "But these are the results — and the facts speak louder than the criticism. In addition, we did it alone as assessors, without help from the Town Board or the County Legislature — and other towns can do the same."

Rhinebeck Quandary — Burning

RHINEBECK

Trustee David Queen wrote, in an open letter to the people of Rhinebeck this week, that the issue of burning leaves in the village "has passed from a point of contention within (the Board) to a point of public debate by reason of default on the part of the Board."

"This letter is not intended in any way to vilify or degrade the mayor or my associates," he precluded the letter. "The point is that on the issue of unrestricted burning we are hung up. It is my contention that unrestricted burning in densely populated areas such as Rhinebeck, or for that matter hamlets such as Rhinecliff, represent a potential fire hazard and definitely a health hazard to those residing in or visiting the areas."

He claimed that the Mayor, Peter F. Sipperley, is "not concerned with the health of a minority and apparently some on the board accede to this attitude."

And he added that the mayor "has taken the first step toward anarchy by picking and choosing which laws to obey, and has openly encouraged similar action on the part of others."

Queen said that this has been done "under the subtlest of guises: economy," and asserted that the direct cost this year Rhinebeck, of a blade on the leaf machine.

Queen admitted to personal involvement in the issue, with asthma a problem in his family. "I know (Trustee) Eugene Trombini shares this concern, since he has a child with asthma," he added.

Queen said that a public hearing on the matter would not solve anything, because the majority of the people in the area do not suffer from respiratory ailments and probably wouldn't care.

He alluded to the person at a recent Village Board meeting who said he suffers from asthma and had to leave town while his neighbors burned leaves. "This is indeed a sad alternative," said Queen. Sipperley has asked that the Environmental Resources Commission hold a hearing to determine whether the Village of Rhinebeck should be exempted from the state law regarding refuse burning. This has been scheduled for mid-February.

Queen said, "I hope to turn this hearing into one attended by a large group and also intend to pass petitions against the start of unrestricted burning within this area."

And he solicited the help of anyone with a desire to aid to either call or write him at his home.

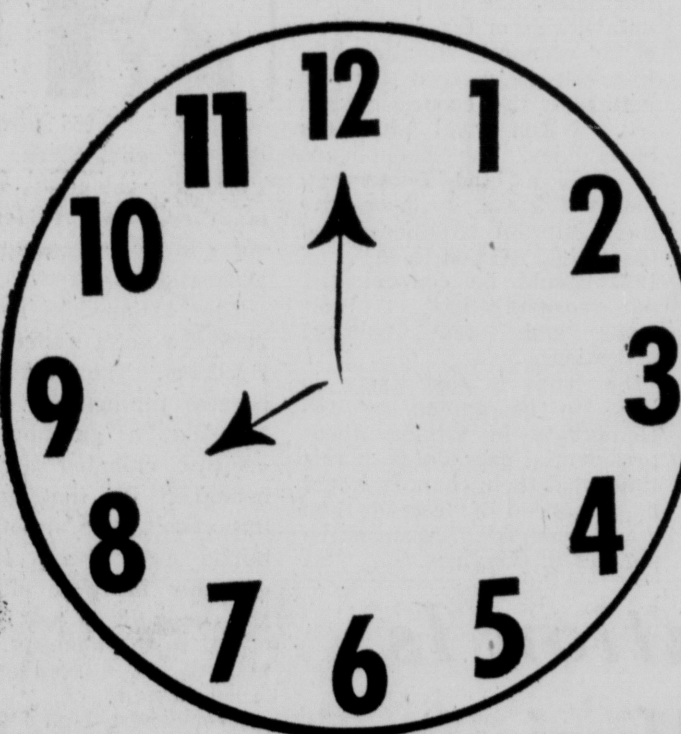

Mayor Sipperley, when contacted at work, said that he had not read the letter yet and would not comment on it until he had.

TEEN SCENE: Harmonies of Hip Harps

By LEI

The holiday season wouldn't be complete without a few golden angels twanging their harps, but these days the sound of a harp doesn't necessarily mean that the herald angels are singing or that you'd better check your pulse. Harps are getting more down to earth every day, and the next girl you call a harpy might really be one, although she'd probably prefer you call her a harpist. She might even harp on the subject a little.

Harps, once limited to concert halls and Marx Brothers' movies (Harpo, by the way, was a very adept harpist, and his stepson is now a classical player) are now showing up everywhere from acid-rock groups to country music bands. Groups looking for a left-field sound to beat the jaded ear-drums of the public are replacing their stars with harps.

Harps are not only new, they are also very old—the oldest stringed instrument, in fact. The earliest harps were played by ancient Egyptians, and were merely a bow (as in bow and arrow) strung with several strings. Ancient Celts, who brought the harp from the Middle East to Europe, added the front pillar to give the strings greater tension.

Since the harp is such an early musical concept, almost every part of the world has its own version of the instrument. There are harps in China, Australia, Mexico, and Wales. In addition, the harp has been the basis for several other related instruments, such as the autoharp, zither, harpsicord, and piano. (The curve in the side of a grand piano still resembles that of a harp.) The greatest difference between harps and the small harp-like instruments like the autoharp and zither is that the sounding board of a harp is at right angles to the strings, while the strings of the others are stretched over the sounding board, parallel to it.

As early as the mid-1960's, the baroque influence on hit songs brought the autoharp and zither new popularity. Several groups, such as the Lovin' Spoonful used them. There were electrified versions developed, and they were played widely by folk singers. Some musicians traced the history of these instruments back to the original harp.

This is a reversal of the trend two centuries ago, when harps lost favor after the development of the autoharp, harpsicord, and (eventually) the piano. One reason for the harp's loss of popularity was the difficulty of tuning it. Anyone who has tuned the six (or sometimes, 12) strings of a guitar to a different key can appreciate the problems encountered while tuning an instrument with nearly 50 strings, sometimes in three "layers."

During the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries several systems were developed for making the changing of key a more simple matter. The most noted of these was that of Sebastian Erard, who, in 1810, developed the double-action pedal that made possible the huge pedal harp seen most commonly today.

It is the largest and most complicated harp, usually around 46-strings. The troubadour harp is somewhat smaller and has no pedals, although tuning is somewhat simplified by a system of levers. A Mexican harp, about the size of the troubadour harp, lacks these levers. The Welsh harp is a small lap-harp often having three rows of strings; the Irish harp, also a small lap-harp, is noted for its gracefully curving pillar.

All of these harps are included in the new harp happening. Locally, in Woodstock, Eve Otto and her troubadour harp are popular coffeehouse entertainment, featuring music ranging from country and western through middle-of-the-road. Eve not only plays her harp solo, but also as part of impromptu groups. There have been several concerts in the area by classical harp players who have adapted their skill on the large pedal harp players who have adapted their harp. While the harp is bulky, and classical training is difficult, it is very adaptable to experimentation by those with musical knowledge and an interest in exploring the out-of-the-ordinary.

Perhaps that's why so many musicians are harping on the bandwagon. In the search today for new sounds to adapt—it just had to happen.

Helps in Many Ways

KINGSTON A Kingston High School organization now in its second year is bursting out with Christmas spirit.

The Afro-American Club recently presented a check for $60 to the current Happy Christmas fund in hopes of providing a little cheer for the less fortunate. The fund is sponsored by WGHQ, and presentation was made to station president, Harry M. Thayer.

Club members don't wait for Christmas though to carry out the community service aspect of the organization. Previous donations have been given to help a family burned out of house and belongings and to another family which had experienced tragedy.

The multi-purpose organization was formed during the last school year with a number of aims in mind. Primarily it is designed to give the black students something to identify with; to stimulate pride in their culture and heritage; to improve relations between students and to serve as an information center on activities of black people throughout the world.

Meetings are two-fold. Special programs on art, culture, welfare legislation and the like serve as supplements to course work in the classroom. At a recent filmstrip of William F. Buckley interviewing Eldridge Cleaver stimulated a lively discussion which covered all sides of the political spectrum.

Another phase of club activity is concerned with administration and planning if more social aspects such as dances and fund raising.

Membership in the Afro-American Club is open to all interested KHS students and both black and white students take an active part in the group.

One Afro-American Club school project has become an important part of the KHS morning scene. The members started a breakfast service primarily for the students who don't eat breakfast at home.

The juice and Danish pastry fare proved so popular that now a number of students rely on the early morning offering served at the school cafeteria by club members. The service is manned by the members on a voluntary basis. They arrive at school extra early to set up the breakfast which is served from 7:45 to about 8:30 a.m.

The club has sponsored sock hops during ninth period to raise money for service projects. It also sponsors a book collection and donated money to the Rondout Day Care Center.

Future plans call for staging a talent show and a cultural day. The latter event would include an Afro-fashion show, and Howard Rust.

Faculty advisors are Don A. Vallone, Viola Ophadi, Charlotte Bell, Judy Dunston and Howard Rust.

Events Scheduled For Recess Time

KINGSTON A number of holiday activities are planned by various groups in the area taking advantage of the school recess.

The Temple Emanuel Youth Group will conduct a student homecoming Sabbath service Friday evening.

Rabbi Joseph Levic, Hillel director of the Greater Roch-ter area will lead a discussion following the services on Where Jewish Life Is at or Campus. All high school and college age students may attend.

College and business young people will be honored at a holiday open house Sunday, Dec. 27, at the Saigerties United Methodist Church. The event will be held at 4 p.m. in the new lounge with Mrs. Roy Helmsmoortel, chairman of arrangements.

A get-together of a slightly different nature is planned Tuesday, Dec. 29, at the Kings lunch.

Another YMCA special for the holiday recess is a Winter Day Trip 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Depending on the weather and snow conditions participants will go to the Y Day Camp or a closer site for skating, sledding and snow games.

Whatever the site of the festivities there will be plenty of hot chocolate and a warm fire to keep the spirits up. At least 40 people must sign up so that a bus can be assured. Those attending will bring a bag

Sharon Ann Rice Is Bride-Elect

SHARON ANN RICE

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Rice of Glenford announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Ann, to Randy E. Kellerhouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Kellerhouse of West Hurley.

Miss Rice is a 1970 graduate of Ontario Central School in Boiceville and is a student at Ulster County Community College.

Her fiancé, a 1967 graduate of Ontario Central School in Boiceville and 1969 graduate of Hudson Valley Community College in Troy, is associated in the well-drilling business with his father.

A fall wedding is planned.

Poinsettia... the Flower of Christmas

"The beautiful is as useful as the useful," said the poet Victor Hugo. Possibly the great Frenchman had in mind the glorious beauty of flowers on Christmas day.

Consider, for example, the "usefulness" of that brilliant living Christmas flower, the poinsettia. Massed in an magnificent red and white flower fall, poinsettias will bring warmth, drama and elegance to your home on Christmas and for many weeks to come.

Who can evaluate the sight of these blossoms in any terms other than a joyous — and useful — upsurge of the spirit?

In recent years, poinsettias have become the focal point of an astounding horticultural happening. Not long ago the plant's freshness was extremely short-lived. But patient research and breeding have now produced plants that may remain attractive from Christmas until Valentine's Day.

For sheer drama this Christmas, the Society of American Florists suggests a grouping of several poinsettia plants in the form of a flower fall. A bit of simple engineering is required, but the effect makes the effort well worthwhile.

First, select and clear completely a small corner table in your living room. Next, arrange a staggered, pyramid-type foundation for your plants. Ordinary cardboard shoeboxes will do. For beauty's sake, cover each box with dark green foil, for inevitably, a few corners will show through.

Now arrange six or seven of your colorful Christmas plants in a splendid cascade. A combination of red and white is especially impressive. For maximum beauty, create two joined and flowing masses of color rather than a spotty sprinkling of red and white.

Don't be afraid, incidentally, to take artistic license in creating the line of a real flower fall. For a finished look, it will be necessary to tip the bottom plant completely on its side. In this position the velvety bracts of the beautiful plant will be on full display.

The poinsettia's luxuriant production of bracts usually means that the plant needs generous watering. If its soil is light, water often; with heavy soil, be more sparing. In any case, it is safe to follow the general rule: water whenever top soil feels dry.

If the pot is wrapped in foil, by all means poke a hole in the bottom to allow excess water drainage. If you fail to do this, the roots will quickly drown.

After Christmas you will find that the long lived poinsettia adapts itself beautifully to average home temperatures: sixty-five to seventy-five degrees by day, and slightly cooler temperatures at night. Do not place your plants near windows if this means drafts and chilling.

Warren Johnsons Will Celebrate 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Johnson of RD 5, Box 339, Kingston, will celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary on Christmas Day.

Married in 1915 at the home of the bride by the Rev. Mr. Polhemus, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are the parents of four sons, Warren of New Jersey; Francis of West O'Reilly Street in Kingston; Robert of Port Ewen; and Arthur of North Carolina. They also have eight grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Mrs. Johnson, the former Anna Roosa, had been a school teacher at Port Ewen. Her husband is retired from Kingston Buick Company, Inc. where he had been an automobile salesman. Mr. Johnson is also well known in the area for his past WKNY Radio Program, News and Views of the Town of Esopus.

Silver Wedding Anniversary December 23rd

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Bocchino Sr. of Poughkeepsie will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary on Wednesday, Dec. 23.

Married Dec. 23, 1945, in the Washington Street Methodist Church in Poughkeepsie, they renewed their vows in Mt. Carmel Rectory at Poughkeepsie on Dec. 14, 1947. Mr. and Mrs. Bocchino are the parents of 10 children: Joseph Jr., Terry E., PFC, Victor A. of the U.S. Marine Corps who is stationed in Japan, Anthony C., Lynne M., Kathleen G., Joan M., Lorraine M., Betty-Jo L., and Christopher M. Bocchino. They also have a grandson, Joseph III.

Mrs. Bocchino is the former Betty L. White, daughter of Mrs. Sidney C. Krom of Stony Hollow.

CANDY CARRIERS

Special candy carriers were fashionable about 1568, in England and on the Continent as well. Individually crafted, often of precious metals embedded with gems, they were costly; and so they were limited in use almost exclusively to men of wealth or positioned with power. A prime minister, for instance, or a cardinal, going about his official or royal duties might open the little "comfit" box he carried, and pop a sweet into his important mouth any time at all. Part of the play was status. But also, the comfits were made of sugar — used first as a coating for caraway and other seeds, then later on as a sweet covering for nuts, fruits, and candies. That sugar had an invigorating affect due to the calories (energy) the sugar supplied. Such logic, if known at the time, was incidental. What made carrying comfits habitual (by those who could), most likely was taste — sweet, sweet taste.

PLANNING BOARD OF GOVERNORS MEETING — Ulster County Legal Secretaries Association will host a Board of Governors meeting January 30 at the Granit Hotel. The program will include a forum on Women's Finance to be presented by Jack Barry Sr., vice president of the State of New York National Bank. A luncheon, fashion show and dinner are also planned in conjunction with the meeting. All legal secretaries in the area, and those working in fields related to law are invited to attend. Pictured here making final plans for the event are seated (L-R) Vera Elliott, vice president; Carmela Cruise, president; standing (L-R) Karen Bitonte, governor; and Bette Maxson, program chairman. ## The Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

All this week they have been putting wood in our cellar and piling it neatly for the fireplace. We now have several courses of logs and split logs, more or less the same length but different sizes ready for the fire each evening when we sit down after dinner.

Most of the wood is elm, the sad trees killed by the blight, but some of it is maple. We put a fat maple chunk in the fireplace two nights ago and it is still there, ready to be a backlog for tonight's fire. This new wood reminds me of our first winter in the country, many years ago. We had a wood burning furnace then and the cellar was full to the last cubic foot. We filled up the furnace in the morning and several times during the day. It made wonderful heat from about waist level up; your feet were cold but you could wear wool socks, couldn't you? Or put your feet on a chair.

Wood in the cellar to burn each evening. The young folks who want to go back to the simple life ought to like it. But they should be reminded of several things. The dead elms have to be cut down. Do it with an axe if you like but a power saw is better. When the tree is down the power saw is definitely an advantage in cutting it up. So you need a power saw. Also you can tote the logs, once cut and split, in a wheelbarrow or on your back but an old second-hand truck (that's what we have) is a lot handier. You'll need two men to work the crosscut saw. Sure, it used to be done without benefit of gasoline, although still with two men.

but labor costs are high these days. Even with your power saw and your own trees, your wood costs something.

In short, the simple life is not as simple as it looks. When our house was first built, some 175 years ago, wood was certainly needed and cut without power tools. But tools there were. The axe, the hatchet, the wedges, the sled, certainly the crosscut, even the team and the oxen all were there. Not only that but there was a sizeable family to help which got larger as time went on. Until after a while it got smaller and there were just two old men who had a chunk stove instead of a fireplace and a neighbor boy helped to cut the wood.

It is not impossible to get along without gasoline or electric power. It was done for thousands of years. But the car, the Hi-Fi, the lights that turn on with a switch, we are used to them. We could go back to the horse and kerosene lamps — though kerosene is hard to find now — candles, then; we could play the piano or the guitar without an electric attachment. But whatever tools we gave up, we couldn't live without labor, a great deal of labor. I wonder sometimes if the young people who long for the simple life, who want to renounce modern technology and return to a non-mechanical age realize just how much labor would be needed.

Perhaps they are learning. Some young friends of ours have set up a commune, several families living together in the country. I believe they have electricity; I'm sure they have cars; I know they couldn't manage without mechanical music. This is the simple life? It would have amazed the family in our house 175 years ago. But it may be a step forward; or backward, depending on your point of view.

The Second Forty

By Margaret Brookfield

Using Your Head

Dear Miss Brookfield: My 42-year-old sister, who has been a career girl all her life, was married six months ago. I didn't like her husband from the start, and thought he was mostly interested in her money. He's showing his true colors now by talking about her behind her back and telling people — mostly her younger girl friends — that he didn't marry for love and could use some female companionship right away. My sister has always been pretty smart, but I think this time she forgot to use her head. Should I tell her what everyone else already knows? S.H., New Philadelphia, Ohio

Dear S.H.: Use your own head and don't butt in. It's your sister's problem and she has to face up to it. She made her bed and if it gives her insomnia after a while, it's up to her to correct that condition. It's sad, but true. If things are anything like you say they are, she'll find out soon enough that the matrimonial mattress is lumpy.

Easing the Change

Dear Miss Brookfield: I've been a healthy person, all my life and seldom go to the doctor. Lately though, I've been having some symptoms that I think are connected with the "change of life." Is it necessary to see a doctor about these? I am 48 years old.

W.R., Kaysville, Utah
Dear W.R.: Yes. The only person who can tell whether your symptoms are related to the menopause is your doctor. By all means, go see him. One doctor who's also a marriage counselor, Dr. Rebecca Liswood, recommends that women in menopause "see their gynecologists not once, but twice a year." She points out that many doctors believe that patients in this age group "feel better physically and emotionally" when treated with certain vital hormones.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker!

The holidays are such happy times it is a double shame to have an accidental fire spoil it for any family. Fires can be prevented with a little forethought, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist.

Here is a new version of the Night Before Christmas put out by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. It is fun to read, but carries a good message.

Twice the night before Christmas and all through the house

Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse,
When down through the chimney, all covered with soot,

Came the "Spirit of Fire" — an ugly galoot.

His eyes glowed like embers, his features were stern,
As he looked all around for something to burn.

What he saw made him

grumble, his anger grew higher.

For there wasn't a thing that would start a good fire.

No door had been blocked by the big Christmas tree; It stood in the corner, leaving passageways free.

The lights that glowed brightly for Betty and Tim

Had been hung with precaution so none touched a limb.

All wiring was new, not a break could be seen,

And wet sand at its base kept the tree nice and green.

The tree had been trimmed by a mother insistent

That the ornaments used be fire resistant.

And mother had known the things to avoid,

Like cotton and paper and plain celluloid.

Rock wool, metal icicles, and trinkets of glass

Gave life to the tree; it really had class.

And would you believe it, right next to the tree

Was a suitable box for holding debris!

A place to throw wrappings of paper and string

From all of the gifts that Santa might bring.

The ugly galoot was so mad he could burst.

As he climbed up the chimney in utter disgust,

For the folks in this home had paid close attention,

To all the rules of good "Fire Prevention."

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

WOMEN'S LIB has brought up the old question once again — more forcefully than ever. How should a woman in the business world be treated? Should she be given special consideration in business dealings? Of course not. Should she be afforded the same courtesies by a man as she would be in social situations? The rules are "fuzzy" when it comes to this, but within reason, I don't see why not. She may be a working woman, but she is very young. Otherwise a still a woman and, let us hope, men are still men. Try today's quiz and test your knowledge about manners in the average office.

Q — Should a girl stand up when one of her male superiors stops at her desk?
A — No, unless he is an older gentleman and she is very young. Otherwise a woman never stands up for a man.

Q — When customers or clients enter an office, does the receptionist stand up?
A — No, unless it is someone she knows personally, and she wishes to shake hands.

Q — When a woman employee is asked by her boss to take a client to lunch, is she expected to pay the bill?
A — Yes, whether or not the client is a man or woman. She must be reimbursed, of course, if she pays personally, or she may suggest a place where the company has a charge account.

Q — Is it "proper" for a secretary to accompany her boss on business trips?
A — Yes, it is often necessary. As long as they do not let the trip involve too much "social" time together and their attitudes are "strictly business," this is perfectly acceptable.

Q — Should a girl be expected to accept social invitations from her boss?
A — No, if she wants to keep her personal or social life separate from her business life, that wish should be respected. Her boss has no right to insist on social contact if she lets him know she does not want it.

Q — Must a business woman traveling alone have her meals in her hotel room?
A — Not at all. She always may eat in the hotel dining rooms, if she does not object to going without an escort, or she may try nearby restaurants. She should not, however, go to those which have dancing, or to night clubs.

Q — Must a man open a door for a girl in a business office?
A — If he is walking with her, yes. He need not leave his desk or whatever he is doing to open a door.

Q — Should a man rise for a woman who comes into his private office?
A — If she is an employee, no. If she is a client, yes.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I use a skirt hanger (that will hold six skirts) as a mitten holder for my children's many pairs of mittens.

In this way, the pairs of mittens are always together and easy accessible for the little ones to reach.

Mrs. P. Pretter

Dear Heloise:

I never destroy my children's school papers. I just can't bear the thought of throwing them away so I write letters on the backs of them to their grandparents.

In this way the grandparents can see how the children are progressing in school.

I send the good with the bad too!

A Reader

Dear Heloise:

For those old-fashioned folks like me who like to string popcorn for Christmas

Pop it the day before it is used. That way the popcorn will soften a bit and the needle goes through easily without breaking the popcorn.

Marina Olague

Dear Heloise:

When children outgrow their winter jackets, don't discard them. Remove the heavy lining, and it will give them a lightweight jacket for spring and fall.

My children always get at least another season's wear out of theirs because of this.

Kingston High Quintet Downs Coleman Team

QUITE A REBOUNDER—Kingston High School's Tony Adams (51) goes high in the air to capture a rebound in last night's game at John A. Coleman High School. Coleman's Bill Krajci (54) tries to grab the ball from behind. Chuck Jackson (33), Kingston's star forward, and top KHS guard Don Williams (3) look on. By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON Coleman High School's basketball Statesmen will have to remain the other team in town. The big, fast, talented Kingston High School Maroons settled the question of who's number one, with a resounding 73-39 triumph over the smaller Coleman team last night before a sellout gathering in the Statesmen Gym.

Facing each other for the first time on the hardwood, the meeting between the local rivals had created quite a stir. But the Maroons left little doubt in anyone's mind by exhibiting a solid offense overshadowed only by a defense that held Coleman to just 10 field goals. It was a ball game for a while.

Kingston led by eight at the end of the first quarter but midway into stanza two the edge was cut in half, 22-18. That was the closest Coleman was to come. Before Donnie Hastings' long buzzer basket ended the half, Kingston had ripped off 19 in a row to go off the court ahead, 41-20.

Ron Burris was the big man during the streak, connecting for eight points.

However, if there was one single key to the Maroon rout it was the defense. And since Hastings had been most of Coleman's offense, stopping him was the chief task. As assigned to do it was Vito Platts and he did the job well. Constantly harassing Hastings, egging him on to shoot, Platts was able to hold the Coleman captain to his low for the year, nine points.

The rest of the chore was controlling the boards, and controlling them Kingston did. Tony Adams, Chuck Jackson, Herman Simon, and Platts capitalized on their own leaping ability and Coleman's lack of size to clear everything in sight.

The Maroon height also had its effect on Coleman's shooting. After a few Statesmen shots were knocked right back at Jay set for Dec. 29, The Statesmen, the Coleman players seemed hesitant to make attempts at the basket and when they did the shots were arched higher than usual and consequently missed. Thus, ten Coleman field goals.

A bright spot for the losers was the fine showing of guard John Machione whose 16 points House won't be quite as friendly was tops for the night. He and a place.

Although Hastings didn't score, he moved the ball well to his teammates and gave more than 100 per cent overall. Part of Don's problem was the fact that nobody else could hit for Coleman, allowing Platts to stay right on him.

"The score doesn't indicate every game and is just a step it," said Coleman Coach Bill DuBois. "But, our boys stayed right in there. We did what we could but Kingston was just too big and strong off the boards. Krajci did a fine job. He really played his heart out. Kingston had good size and good balance. They are tough. Adams is a corner. So is Simon. Maybe next time, maybe next time," concluded DuBois.

Steve Peruso moved the ball well against Kingston's man-to-man. However, the lack of defense really hurt the Statesmen. KHS limited Coleman to just four field goals in the second half. And all of those were in the third period.

REBOUNDS: Kingston took the JV contest, 54-42. Jay Carroll pumped in 24 points, including the winning tallies late in the third quarter. Coleman managed just four points in the last quarter which they went into down by one. Phil Palladino had 22 for the little Statesmen.

Maroons' Defense Does Fine Job

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON "We played good defense tonight. Our defense has improved greatly over the past two ball games. I think the boys realize the importance of this phase of the game. A good defense can keep you in a game that otherwise might get away from you."

So said Kingston High School Basketball coach Mike Rienzo after his Fighting Maroons downed a game John A. Coleman quintet, 73-39 Friday night at the losers' gym.

Rienzo went on: "Coleman is a much better club than the score indicates. Naturally, I thought we should win this one. I would have been disappointed if we dropped it to say the least. You never know what you're up against in a game like this. And, after watching the junior varsity game, which we were also fortunate to win, we knew that we would be in for a tussle. And we knew that our defense would win it for us."

Rienzo was right. While the score might indicate a run-and-shoot type of game, last night's contest was anything but. The Maroons started out by bombing at the hoop on every opportunity. But, the ball didn't fall in and they realized that they had to put something together if they were win this one.

Coleman has a very fine scorer in the person of Don Hastings. Hastings had been averaging a little better than 24 points-per-game going into last night's tilt.

Platts Stars However, a very defensive-minded Vito Platts held the Statesman star to just nine markers. That in itself was the major turning point in the game.

Platts atayed shoulder-to-shoulder with Hastings all over the floor. He challenged the Coleman scorer to shoot. He stayed back at times just so Hastings would get the ball and then, like a hawk circling his prey, Vito would move in and cut off any avenue Hastings might have to the basket.

Vito's defensive effort rubbed off his teammates, especially Tony Adams. Adams dominated the boards and tallied 15 points. "The Big Man" used his height and strength to good advantage, blocking shots, tapping in free man and he scores. It's missed attempts by his team and otherwise intimidating his smaller foe. It was Tony's best effort of the season.

Herman Simon also was outstanding defensively. However, it was his work as a playmaker that gained the attention of the sellout throng. Simon would bring the ball with the cries of "Do it Herman, do it!" ringing from the Kingston side of the packed bleachers. Time and again he would find a free man when it appeared that there was no one for him to throw the ball to.

"I like passing the ball and playing defense," said Simon after the tilt. "When you hit the free man and he scores, it's more fun than scoring the deuce yourself. At least to me it is. Coleman was a good team, they stayed in there and didn't give up. They're going to win a lot of games," concluded the flashy guard.

Ron Burris and Chuck Jackson played their usual good, steady game. Jackson was also a tiger off the boards, using his height to good advantage. Burris took a page out of Simon's book and controlled the ball, passing to the big men underneath. And, it was Ron's of fense in the second quarter that put the game out of reach for Kingston.

Boiceville bination defense. However, they couldn't find the mark. And, a fine job on the Monroe boys; with Smith controlling the boards, Ontario was able to break the pressure-defense rather easily.

Brad Hart was the big gun for the losers, firing in 25 points. Highland Blows Lead Highland had its game all but won, going into the locker room with a halftime lead of 3-22. However, the Ganders paced by "Jumping Bill" Joy-6-3 but he jumps like a man, 6-8. His play was tremendous. He gets better every game."

Apparently Page is not exaggerating when he talks of a Smith's ability. The Big Guy gathered in 22 rebounds to go with his game high of 27 points. He also had seven assists on the fast break.

Steve Frasier and Dan Brown were also outstanding for the winners. Frasier had a bundle of rebounds and 21 markers while Brown chipped in with 16. One of his finer performances of the season.

Atlanta on New Kick

By United Press International

With a new year less than two weeks away, the Atlanta Hawks have made an early resolution to obliterate the bitter past and seek a fresh start.

"All we're doing is looking to the future," explained Atlanta day night after the Hawks ran of their fourth consecutive victory by beating the Baltimore Bullets, 116-112. "We're not thinking about things that happened before the streak."

What happened before the streak is unthinkable to any member of the Hawks. Rated a good shot at beating out the

the National Basketball Association, Atlanta won only seven of its first 28 games despite the addition of Pete Maravich. Dissension was a common word in discussing the Hawks, and they weren't helped again by the unexpected loss of Joe Caldwell to the American Basketball Association.

"Before the streak you know we were in bad shape," Hazzard said. "What it all means right now is we're thinking positively, knowing that's the only way to win. We're doing all the things we know we should do, playing team defense, hitting the open man and penetrating the team's defenses. When we do that, nobody can beat us, nobody."

Lou Hudson led the Atlanta attack with 29 points, including the clinching field goal with 26 seconds left in the game, and Maravich had 28 points. Hazzard, in addition to eight assists, contributed 22 points, three less than teammate Walt Bellamy. Earl Monroe led Baltimore with 24 points.

The Bullets still lead third-place Atlanta by seven games, but the Hawks are only two games behind the Cincinnati Royals, who dropped a 137-122 decision to the Chicago Bulls. This verdict fed another streak as the Bulls, aided by 75 points in the second half, equalled a team record with their sixth triumph in a row.

Elsewhere, the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Boston Celtics, 124-114; the Buffalo Braves crushed the Cleveland Cavaliers, 113-94; and in a double-header at San Diego, the San Francisco Warriors edged the Portland Trail Blazers, 122-118 and the Detroit Pistons downed the San Diego Rockets, 129-116.

Jerry Sloan, who shared game honors of 31 points with Cincinnati's Norm Van Lier, hit on seven of eight field goal attempts in the third period when Chicago ran up 37 points. Chet Walker added 26 points for the Bulls and Jim Fox and Bob Weiss had 20 each.

Low Alcindor scored 40 points as Milwaukee registered its 24th victory against only five losses. John Havlicek, who wound up with 25 points, and Don Nelson combined for 20 points in the final period to help Boston gain a 109-109 tie, but the Bucks went right out front again on a pair of free throws by Bob Dandridge.

Mike Davis and Bob Kauffman scored 19 points each to pace Buffalo, which rolled up the biggest victory margin of its short history. The Cavaliers suffered their 34th defeat in 36 games.

San Francisco, after blowing an early 36-18 lead, broke loose from an 80-80 deadlock with an 11-2 spurt in the third quarter. Nate Thurmond of the Warriors led all scorers with 25 points and Geoff Petrie had 23 for Portland.

Dave Bing, Jimmy Walker and Bob Lanier combined for 75 points as the Pistons beat San Diego, Bing had 30 points, Walker 23 and Lanier 22 in the Detroit triumph while Elvin Hayes had 23 and Calvin Murphy 22 for the Rockets.

Joe Caldwell Tops Colonels

By United Press International

The Kentucky Colonels, with assists from Louis Dampier and Joe Caldwell, have an edge going for them tonight when they meet the Virginia Squires in a showdown for the Eastern Division lead of the American Basketball Association.

Dampier scored 26 points, including the clinching basket with only seven seconds to play, as the Colonels edged the Floridians, 115-112, Friday night. The victory enabled Kentucky to take a one-game lead over the Squires, who had their seven-game winning streak snapped by the Carolina Cougars, 111-104, in overtime.

Caldwell scored 29 points to pace the Carolina effort.

Dan Issel led all Kentucky scorers with 33 points, including five in a row after the Floridians had gone on a 14-point tear to take an 85-80 lead late in the third quarter. Mack Calvin had 27 points and 11 assists for the Floridians.

The Utah Stars maintained their two-game edge over Indiana in the Western Division as they trounced the Texas Chaparrals, 123-104, while the Pacers tripped the New York Nets, 129-117. Wayne Hightower had 27 points and Zelmo Beaty 20 for the Stars, who never trailed after the opening minutes of the game. Mel Daniels led the Indiana effort with 27 points and 24 rebounds.

In the other ABA game, John Brisker scored 14 of his 28 points in the third quarter to carry the Pittsburgh Condors to a 143-121 victory over the Denver Rockets. Pittsburgh's Stu Johnson led all scorers with 30 points.

Glenn Berry Paces Ulster Victory Over Delhi

KICKING IT AROUND — With the New York Giants attack clicking so beautifully of late, their big point-scoring of recent years, Pete Gogolak, has been hidden under the big shadows of the Fran Tarkenton and Ron Johnsons. Coach Alex Webster, though, cherishes his ace in the hole and keeps him in line for that day when the Giants have trouble taking the ball in. The day could be Sunday when the Giants meet the strong defense of the Los Angeles Rams in what could be a playoff berth clincher for the Giants. Gogolak and Webster are shown in football "pepper workout."

(UPI TELEPHOTO)

Giants, Jets Are Favored

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
NE YORK (AP) — It'll be Title Day in the National Football League Sunday with the final three division champions plus two other playoff contenders emerging from among the 10 teams still in the running for post-season action.

Only three teams—Baltimore, Minnesota and Oakland—have clinched division titles and qualified for conference playoffs Dec. 26 and 27.

The 10 teams still in the running are Cincinnati, Cleveland, Miami and Kansas City in the American Conference and New York, Dallas, St. Louis, Detroit, Los Angeles and San Francisco in the National Conference.

Here are the picks following last week's 7-5-1 record that made the over-all ark 52-34-5:

SATURDAY

New York Jets 27, Baltimore 20 — Figure this as an upset with the title clinched and Earl Morrall expected to do most of the quarterbacking.

SUNDAY

Oakland, 41, San Francisco 24—Raiders don't need this one for the title. But they need it for their pride. It should be an interesting passing duel between leading TD bombers Daryle Lamonica of Oakland and John Brodie of San Francisco.

New York Giants 24, Los Angeles 21—A victory will clinch the NFC East title for the Giants, and Fran Tarkenton has the mind to lead the way against the Rams. A loss would deprive Los Angeles of any shot at NFC West title that then would go to 49ers.

St. Louis 28, Washington 24—

This one also has an interesting personal duel between running backs MacArthur Lane of Cardinals and Larry Brown of Redskins. Give St. Louis the edge since there still is a chance for a playoff berth.

Dallas 35, Houston 17—A battle among Texans with the Cowboys having much more riding on the outcome.

Detroit 27, Green Bay 17—Bart Starr will be in harness for the Packers, but the playoff-hungry Lions have too many weapons.

Miami 38, Buffalo 21—The Bills have one thing going for them—the Dennis Shaw to Marlin Briscoe passing combination. But the Dolphins should be able to shoot Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick through the Buffalo defensive line with little difficulty.

Cincinnati 24, Boston 14—A victory will bring the Bengals the AFC Central title for Paul Brown, who has made an expansion team a contender in just three years.

Cleveland 28, Denver 20—The last game for Coach Blanton Collier, and naturally the Browns would like to send him out a winner.

Kansas City 24, San Diego 13—Only an outside playoff chance for Chiefs, but they don't like to lose even if nothing's at stake.

Minnesota 24, Atlanta 10—Nothing at stake here, but the Vikings won't want to lose their winning touch.

Chicago 28, New Orleans 21—Dick Gordon will catch enough passes to give the Bears the decision.

Philadelphia 17, Pittsburgh 14—Could go either way but the Eagles could be just a bit stronger at this late stage.

Kicker Match Is Postponed

MORGAN HILL

Kingston Sport Club Kickers scheduled Premier Division game at Passaic Sunday has been postponed. But other teams in the German-American Football Association will be in action.

Other pairings include: Kolping at Austria, Newark at College Point, Brooklyn at Spring Valley, Haledon at Dalmatinac and Bavarians at Doxa.

Meanwhile, the Association has announced dates for the 1971 Schaefer Indoor Soccer Classic at Westchester Civic Center in White Plains. The dates are: Saturday, Jan. 16, 6 p.m. to 11 p.m.; Sunday, Jan. 17, 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.; Saturday, Jan. 23, 6 to 11 p.m.; Sunday, Jan. 24, 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The Big Fourteen will battle it out by the point system. The Premier and League Division clubs of GAFA will play by the K.O. system; Schaefer's is putting up a prize kitty of $7,000 plus trophies.

Kingston and Bavarians are tied for the fifth and sixth spots in the Premier Division South standings with 4:17 points each.

Crack Ruler Is Favorite

By United Press International
A. J. Summerville Jr.'s Crack Ruler, a four-time stakes winner this year, goes after win No. 5 Saturday in the $24,300 Monumental Handicap at Laurel.

The 6-year-old gelding will carry highweight of 122 pounds in the 1-1/16 mile test for Maryland-bred handicap performers. A field of eight horses has been entered for the event. With all going, the winner will net $14,495.

DELHI
When Glenn Berry is hot Ulster County Community College is that much tougher. Just ask the players, fans and coaches of Delhi Tech whom Berry helped ruin, 83-51, in a non-conference basketball clash here Friday night.

Berry, the Ulster captain, shot nine for 13 from the field to help account for 23 points as the Senators streaked to their fifth consecutive triumph. His teammates took the cue, hitting on 26 of 55 attempts, giving Ulster 35-68 in all.

But as Coach Mike Perry said afterwards, "the name of the game for us this year is defense," and Ulster showed why. Perry recalled that in the locker room before the game he told his squad that Delhi should be held to 55 points. The Senators responded by beating Perry's hope by four.

It's been strictly a man-to-man that has done the trick. Berry, Cliff Weeks, and Rod Wilkinson up front, with George Civile, and last night, Gary McDonald in the backcourt, have been keeping the opposition more than honest.

For the second straight time the defense held the other team scoreless in the opening minutes while Ulster built a nine point lead. Rockland Community had been stunned Wednesday, now Delhi got the treatment.

The Senators also were unbeatable in the rebounding department. Ulster cleared the boards 45 times to Delhi's 29, with Berry, Weeks, and Pat Harder grabbing nine each. By halftime of the contest, UCCC had built a 38-22 lead which was extended to its final margin on the basis of a 45-29 second half.

Weeks was number two man in the scoring column for Ulster with 16 points. The rest of the point-getting was evenly spread. Heading Delhi was Duane Sidney with 22.

The Senators have a tough one coming up against the St. John's University freshmen in New York City on Tuesday. Ulster's overall mark is 6-2.

Tournament Time for College Teams

By United Press International
Holiday time means tournament time and Kentucky and Southern California are among the early revelers.

Kentucky, the No. 4 team in the nation, crushed DePaul 106-85 in the Kentucky Invitation Tournament, and sixth-ranked Southern Cal rallied to beat Florida State (No. 18), 94-85 in the Big Four tournament.

In other action involving top 20 teams, eighth-ranked Kansas whipped St. Joseph's (Pa.) 80-65, and Houston upset Villanova (No. 10) 99-84 in the Jayhawk Classic; 12th ranked Drake beat Texas-Arlington 88-75 in the Texas Classic; North Carolina State stunned 14th-ranked North Carolina 82-70 in the Big Four tournament.

Indiana (No. 15) downed Ohio University 97-88 in a non-tournament game; Michigan State upended 16th-ranked New Mexico 73-69 in the Lobo Invitational; Colorado State (No. 17) beat Oklahoma City 86-64 in the Cornhusker classic; and St. John's (No. 20), ripped Southern Methodist 95-80 in the Vanderbilt Invitational.

Kentucky, now 5-0, got a 26-point performance from Mike Casey, en route to its victory over DePaul. The Wildcats meet Purdue, an '87-'88 victor over Kansas State, in the final round.

Dennis Layton's 37-point performance helped Southern California move into the Sun Bowl final against Texas El Paso, which beat Miami (Ohio) 54-53 and Kansas, led by Bud Stallworth's 27 points, moved into the finals of the Jayhawk Classic against Houston.

Tom Bush's 27 points moved Drake into the Texas Classic finals against Texas Christian, which beat Alabama 88-75 and North Carolina State, paced by Paul Coder's 23 points, advanced to the Big Four finals against Wake Forest, an 83-77 winner over Duke.

Joby Wright's 31 points helped Indiana past Ohio while Rudy Benjamin's 27 points helped Michigan State down previously unbeaten New Mexico to move into the Lobo final against Rutgers, a surprisingly easy 84-69 victor over Santa Clara.

Colorado State meets host Nebraska, which downed Miami (Fla.) 85-58, in the Cornhusker final.

Unbeaten St. John's won its fifth game on 70-point performances by Greg Cluess and Mel Davis and moved into the Vanderbilt finals against the host school, which beat Clemson 75-61.

In other games, Southwestern Louisiana, the nation's No. 11 small college team, beat Yale 64-62 and Oklahoma State stopped Connecticut 80-64 in the Bayou Classic; Mississippi beat Holy Cross 99-93 and Marshall downed Iowa State 90-66 in the Marshall Invitation; Utah won the 1970 show season, Miss Minahan competed in the English division, Miss Hicks in Western.

Miss Minahan, 18, is a graduate of Coleman High in Kingston and at present a student at Marist College, Poughkeepsie. In competing for the trophy, she rode Wings, an Irish Thoroughbred gelding, 13 years of age. Miss Hicks is 12 years old and has been riding and competing in local, 4-H and Quarter Horse Shows for the past five

Susan Hicks, Mary Minahan Win Riding Club Trophies

WEST SAUGERTIES

Woodstock Riding Club will present its first Perpetual Challenge Trophies to Miss Mary Minahan of Ruby and Miss Susan Hicks of Rhinebeck in ceremonies at the Ridge Runners Sportsmen's Club tonight.

The awards go to the junior riders accumulating the most points in the nine shows sponsored by the Riding Club during the 1970 show season. Miss Minahan competed in the English division, Miss Hicks in Western.

Miss Minahan, 18, is a graduate of Coleman High in Kingston and at present a student at Marist College, Poughkeepsie. In competing for the trophy, she rode Wings, an Irish Thoroughbred gelding, 13 years of age. Miss Hicks is 12 years old and has been riding and competing in local, 4-H and Quarter Horse Shows for the past five years. She accumulated her points riding King Glo Cody, a registered Quarter Horse.

Don Avallone and other members of the Riding Club felt the challenge trophy competition would serve to stimulate more interest among the juniors and the response the first year vinted their judgment. It is hoped that ever more junior entries will be attracted next season.

Mrs. Paul DeLisio is chairman of the awards dinner which starts at 7 p.m. and is open to members and guests.

A Yule Story For Everyone

By LOUIS CASSELS

UPI Religion Writer

Once upon a time, there was a man who looked upon Christmas as a lot of humbug. He wasn't a scrooge. He was a very kind and decent person, generous to his family, upright in all his dealings with other men.

But he didn't believe all that stuff about an incarnation which churches proclaim to pretend that he did. "I am truly sorry to distress you," he told his wife, who was a faithful churchgoer. "But I simply cannot understand this simply cannot understand this claim that God became man. It doesn't make any sense to me."

On Christmas Eve, his wife and children went to church for the midnight service. He declined to accompany them. "I'd feel like a hypocrite," he explained. "I'd much rather stay at home. But I'll wait up for you."

Shortly after his family drove away in the car, snow began to fall. He went to the window and watched the flurries getting heavier and heavier.

City Hearings Slated Monday

KINGSTON Two public hearings and a public auction have been continued from Thursday, the 17th because of the snow storm, to Monday, the 21st, according to a joint news release issued by City Clerk Louis F. DeCicco, Alderman Donald E. Quick, chairman of the Laws and Rules Committee of the Common Council, and Alderman Edward M. Norton, chairman of the Finance, Ways and Means Committee.

Public hearings on tax exemptions for persons over 65 years of age and for additions to the Landmarks Preservation list were held on Thursday night at 7 and 8, respectively, and have been continued until the same times on Monday. DeCicco held a public auction of city-owned properties in his office Thursday at 2 p.m. That will also be continued, to be held Monday at 2 p.m. in the city clerk's office.

mas," he reflected, "it's nice to have a white one." He went back to his chair by the fireside and began to read his newspaper.

A few minutes later, he was startled by a thudding sound. It was quickly followed by another, then another. He thought that someone must be throwing snowballs at his living-room window.

When he went to the front door to investigate, he found a flock of birds huddled miserably in the snow. They had been caught in the storm, and in a desperate search for shelter had tried to fly through his window.

"I can't let those poor creatures lie there and freeze," he thought. "But how can I help them?" Then he remembered the barn where the children's pony was stabled. It would provide a warm shelter.

He quickly put on his coat and galoshes and tramped through the deepening snow to the barn. He opened the doors wide and turned on the light. But the birds didn't come in.

"Food will bring them in," he thought. So he hurried back to the house for bread crumbs, waving his arms. They scattered in every direction — to make a trail into the barn. To his dismay, the birds ignored the bread crumbs and continued to flop around helplessly in the snow.

He tried shooting them into the barn by walking around and know they can trust me. "If only I could be a bird myself for a few minutes, perhaps I could lead them to safety."

Just at that moment, the church bells began to ring. He stood silently for a while, listening to the bells pealing the glad tidings of Christmas.

Then he sank to his knees in the snow. "Now I understand," he whispered. "Now I see why you had to do it."

memo to advertisers

With two seemingly equal advertising opportunities available, how would you decide which was to carry your sales messages?

We have a suggestion—take a few minutes to find out just how seemingly equal they really are.

Ask questions—how big is their circulation audience? Where do readers live? How much do they pay? And others.

Then ask for proof!

Ask to see a copy of their latest report from the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Equal opportunities? Be ABC-sure!

Some Headliners Upcoming

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Notes to watch television by: Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau series, set for Jan. 11, is entitled "Lagoon of Lost Ships," and concerns Japanese vessels sunk at Truk, an atoll in South Pacific. . . . Madrid's Prado Museum and its great paintings are the subject of NBC-TV's "Southern Baptist Hour" Jan. 10.

The Christmas Eve story of ABC-TV's "Bewitched" was composed by students at Thomas Jefferson High School in Los Angeles after they visited the set. . . . In the episode, series costar Dick Sargent is removed from an account when a client mistakes a little black girl in his home for his daughter.

The Industry: NBC President Julian Goodman has properly taken issue with some articles that suggest the important new developments of video cassettes and cable television may result in the demise of networks. . . . For mass viewing at any given moment, the networks are supreme, and will continue prominently if intelligently guided. . . . Video's main failing is that there is just too much able network achievement in time to fill, which inevitably entertains and news coverage diverts attention from consideration.

Ends Eight-Year Probe on Controversial Aircraft

Senate Report Blames McNamara for TFX Failures

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee, closing its books on an eight-year probe of the TFX warplane, has accused former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara of wasting billions of dollars and damaging the nation's defense posture by ignoring warnings about the aircraft.

In a report released Friday, the permanent investigations subcommittee, also accused one top McNamara aide of conflict of interest and said another should have disqualified himself from the TFX contract award.

The report said McNamara and his top aides ignored advice of military and technical experts and arbitrarily awarded the contract to General Dynamics although Boeing submitted plans for a cheaper and better plane.

It also said McNamara was just plain wrong in seeking to develop a common plane for all the services.

After years of mechanical troubles an Air Force version of the TFX—now known as the F111—finally saw limited duty in Vietnam but a Navy model had to be junked.

"This unfortunate and wasteful consequence of an arbitrary and imprudent decision to rush into production with a deficient aircraft is directly attributable to Secretary of Defense Robert Namara's failure to heed warnings "cost hundreds of millions of dollars and severely impaired our Navy's defense posture."

The two McNamara aides singled out for special criticism were his deputy secretary, Roswell Gilpatric, and Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth.

Gilpatric was a New York lawyer who handled work for General Dynamics before joining the Pentagon. Korth had close ties to General Dynamics officials.

The report said Korth played only a small part in the contract award but still should have disqualified himself.

It said Gilpatric, on the other hand, was guilty of a "flagrant conflict of interest." It accused him of trying to mislead the subcommittee on the depth of his involvement with General Dynamics.

The Justice Department under Robert F. Kennedy investigated Gilpatric's involvement in 1962 but cleared him of conflict of interest.

A subcommittee staffer said the Senate investigation is over and nothing further is planned in connection with the TFX.

The TFX program originally called for 1,726 planes at a cost of $5.8 billion, averaging $3.4 million per plane. Plans call for the program to end in 1972 with 538 planes which cost $7.9 billion—an average four times the original estimate.

Commenting on the subcommittee report, General Dynamics said, "While the program has been controversial, the net result is an outstanding weapons system with performance and long range, low-altitude operating capabilities unmatched by any other airplane in the world."

The company statement said it is significant that at no time was there any suggestion of wrongdoing by General Dynamics or any of its employees.

Opponents Aiming to Talk SST to Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trying to unravel in private the legislative tangle it wove in public, the Senate has turned to negotiations in an effort to undo a threatened epidemic of filibusters.

An attempt today to halt debate on one of the issues blocking Christmas adjournment was expected to fail.

That would keep alive a talk session by opponents of a $210-million appropriation for the supersonic transport plane—one of at least six major issues on which filibuster or parliamentary tieup is threatened.

In that situation, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called a 94-minute secret session of the Senate Friday night, and urged his colleagues to take an attitude of compromise or give and take.

The executive session produced no specific plan for an end to the tieup. But the opposing sides on major, stalled legislation agreed to meet in small groups in an effort to negotiate compromises.

Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott were to meet today with House Speaker John W. McCormack to discuss the Senate situation and the outlook for adjournment.

"I wouldn't say there is light at the end of the tunnel, but the prospects are brighter," Mansfield said.

"If there is any light at the end of the tunnel, it is not a Christmas light," said Scott. He said there is not a particle of hope Congress might adjourn before Christmas.

It must, by law, quit by noon, Jan. 3, since the 91st Congress goes out of existence then.

It was Scott who, with 18 supporters, proposed the Senate halt debate on the Department of Transportation appropriations bill, with its $210 million for the SST.

The Senate voted two weeks ago to strike the SST funds from the bill after the House narrowly approved a $290-million appropriation.

Critics of the airplane project contend the $210 million recommended by House-Senate conferees is hardly a compromise.

One suggestion advanced in the closed Senate session was that no new legislation be acted upon, leaving only conference reports, the final versions of bills passed by both House and Senate.

That would scrap a bill pending in the Senate providing Social Security increases, trade restrictions and the administration's welfare reform proposal.

Controversies over provisions restricting use of U.S. troops in Southeast Asia outside South Vietnam threaten in connection with the $66.6-billion defense appropriations bill, and three foreign aid measures.

Government Studies Indicate Danger

Say No Soap to Antiphosphate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's announcement that an antipollution phosphate substitute in soap may be harmful has prompted its developer to halt production.

Officials of the Monsanto Co. in St. Louis said Friday there is no more market for the 100 million pounds of the detergent ingredient NTA it makes every year.

Federal officials announced Friday they have persuaded the detergent industry to quit using the chemical—nitrilotriacetic acid.

mote the rapid growth of algae and cause premature aging in some lakes and streams.

The government acted after a Public Health Service experiment showed that rats and mice fed NTA, mercury and cadmium were 10 times more likely to have stillborn or deformed offspring.

The experiment showed that NTA combined with the two metals and carried the combination across the placenta to the embryos.

Since both mercury and cadmium occur naturally as pollutants, the findings raised the possibility, officials said, that pregnant women might be harmed.

Health officials said there is no present hazard except in some rural areas where septic tanks seep into airless well water supplies. Use of NTA products in those areas should be stopped, they said.

Surgeon General Jesse L. Steinfeld and William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, said in a joint statement there is no evidence so far to indicate anyone has been harmed by the NTA combination.

"However, prudence dictates not permitting a situation to develop in which harm may occur to man from the effects of the projected uses of NTA," they said.

Procter and Gamble Co. alone has invested $6.8 million for conversion to NTA in its detergents and has placed orders for $167 million worth of the chemical, company officials said.

President Howard Morgens said in Cincinnati Friday his firm would eliminate NTA from its products, even though it felt there was no danger.

Morgens said the government study used "an extremely high concentration of these metals and NTA, a concentration that does not exist in nature and that has no relevance in our opinion to what could happen in the natural environment."

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said an incomplete list of products containing NTA includes: Amway SA-8 Cheer, Gain, H.L.D., K-50, Laundry-Maid, Liquid All, Loft, Phos-Free, Roundy's, Sav-Us, Ultra, and Valley-Dew.

NEW BURSTS of color and light herald the change that accompanies the Christmas season. In homes and stores alike, the greenery of pine boughs, flickering candles, multi-colored baubles and glittering tinsel blanket the walls with a shimmering warmth.

FROM SAUGERTIES, little Bonnie Beth Housman, only two and a half years old, is still too young to fill Santa's ear with a lot of tall tales about what a good girl she's been all year. But she's old enough to know how to get on his good side.

WINDOWS HAVE CHANGED around the county as each community breathes an air of expectancy and excitement. Old fashioned ornaments and pine cones mingle with gleaming pottery in this particular window at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen shop in the art colony.

Everywhere the city of Kingston and the towns and villages of Ulster County breathe an air of expectancy and excitement.

On the main streets of Ellenville, Saugerties, Woodstock, New Paltz, Phoenicia and Kingston, people bustle along with gay shopping bags bursting with gifts.

Few are able to remain oblivious to the clanging bells of street-corner Santa Clauses and the sprightly Christmas music that pours from loudspeakers and engulfs them.

Festooned Streets

Overhead the streets are festooned with bright lights and greenery slung from side-walk poles and capped, at their centers, with glowing stars and cheery pictures of Santa.

In the window of one shop, a stuffed mannequin of St. Nicholas turns from side to side waving its arm at passers-by. Children pause to watch in fascination, and an elderly man stops, too, lost in the memories of childhood the oversize mechanical doll evokes.

In grocery stores and butcher shops, department stores and drugstore, the dark green wreaths are everywhere—and everywhere, too, the flickering lights, shimmering baubles, and glittering tinsel. Like a blanket of warmth, they have returned to say "Merry Christmas—Happy New Year."

Beaming portraits of Santa Claus greet shoppers from store windows, walls and signs. And the phone at more than one delicatessen rings incessantly as early orders are placed for Christmas and New Year's provender.

New Burst of Color

Residential neighborhoods in city, town and village have changed, too, and with the changes have come new bursts of light and color. In West Hurley, as in Tillson and elsewhere, houses seem to have been dressed up in brighter Christmas decorations this year than ever before. And in the smallest communities, brilliant decorations arch across business streets and the windows of shops and houses gleam with the cheer of the season.

On village greens and in city parks, happy throngs of children and adults are drawn to newly lighted Christmas trees. And in the teeming shopping centers, they congregate in front of spectacular window displays of beauty, sleekness and cheer.

In one window, an animated phantasmagoria of scenes from

AN ANIMATED PHANTASMAGORIA of scenes drawn from Christmas lore attract throngs of children and adults to the festive figures and lights of window displays that range from the spectacular to the beautiful to the cheery. This one's at Fred Johnston's antiques emporium in Kingston.

Festive Holiday Mood for Woodstock Art Gallery

19—THE DAILY FREEMAN, DECEMBER 19, 1970

PAINTING OF AN ENCHANTRESS from tropical climes and canvas of summer leaves along a waterway help Stephen Robin and his youngsters forget the winter weather outside Woodstock Artists Association Gallery. Robin, whose Furniture as Art shop is one of Woodstock's major attractions, gives one-year-old daughter Sara a piggyback view of the Christmas show, while four-year-old son Joshua tags along on his own.

PUNCH BOWL was one of the most popular attractions at last weekend's opening party heralding the annual Christmas Show at Woodstock Art Gallery. Exhibit continues through tomorrow, Sunday, Dec. 20; is open to the public.

FOR GALLERY-GOERS who had shoveled their way out of their own driveways during last week's snow storm to attend Woodstock opening, this painting by artist Christopher Medved — of a determined snow shoveler — had an all too recent and familiar ring.

THE WINTER LANDSCAPE OUTSIDE has moved inside to the walls of the Woodstock gallery in these snow scenes in oil by Bearsville artist Hanno Schrader. Schrader operates his own gallery in Bearsville, but remains an active member of the now more than half a century old Woodstock Artists Association on the Village Green.

NUDE BY ECKSTEIN, though a superlative study in oils, must have provoked a few chilly thoughts by gallery-goers at the art colony opening, most of whom were bundled in heavy coats and stocking hats. The lady was simply not adequately attired for the December festivities she surveyed from her place on the wall. (All photos by Freeman photographer John Kruh).

"SNOW ON THE MEADOW" is the title of this painting by Woodstock artist Ethel Magafan. It is one of more than a dozen of her canvases to be shown in an upcoming show at New York City's prestigious Midtown Galleries.

Mountains and Valleys by Ethel Magafan

Ethel Magafan is acknowledged as one of Woodstock's finest women painters. For years her canvases have been exhibited throughout the country in museum and one man exhibitions. And they have consistently won many awards and museum representations.

Any Magafan show is a major event in the art world — and such a show will open Tuesday, Dec. 22, when the Midtown Galleries, 11 East 57th Street, New York City, presents an exhibition of Recent Paintings by Ethel Magafan. The exhibit is slated to run through Jan. 16 with a preview cocktail party planned for opening night from 5 to 7 p.m.

The paintings in the Midtown exhibit are based on studies made in the mountains of the Far West. This past summer, artist Magafan was honored by an invitation from the U.S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Reclamation Art Program, to make on-the-spot sketches of the arid Western United States.

The drawings she did will be exhibited in the National Gallery in Washington, D.C. and then sent on a tour around the country by the Smithsonian Institute. One of only a limited number of prominent artists selected to participate in the program, her work has been lauded as helping to document the water resources development and conservation efforts of the Department of the Interior.

A resident of Woodstock since the late 1940's, Ethel Magafan was born in Chicago, Ill., and raised in Colorado, where she studied at the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center. Her work is in public collections of museums, art centers and universities all across the U.S. and in Europe. She was won dozens upon dozens of major awards, including such prestigious ones as the Fulbright Grant, Tiffany Fellowship, National Academy of Design Prize and Hallmark Art Award, as well as others from the American Watercolor Society and Audubon Artists.

Her murals hang in many postoffices in the south and west, as well as in three major governmental buildings in Washington, D.C., including the Senate Chamber, Social Security Building, and Recorder of Deeds Building.

Since her first one-man exhibition in Denver in 1938 she has been honored with close to two dozen such shows.

Among the 21 recent paintings to be shown in the upcoming show at Midtown Galleries are canvases with such titles as: Evening Mountains, High Passage, Mountain Glade, River Country, Sheltered Valley, Snow on the Meadow, and Spring Pas-

Photography Art In Holiday Show For Phoenicia

The latest art exhibit at Phoenicia Library turns, for the first time this season, from paintings or sculptures to photography. Opening there today and slated to run through Jan. 15 is a joint showing of photography by Evette Haley and Karen Jensen.

The show includes approximately 30 varied photographs, featuring portraits and character studies. Also on view are scenes of Phoenicia and vicinity.

The technical styles of these two youthful women photographers involve both representational and abstract approaches. They have mounted and matted the enlarged pictures themselves.

Onteora Seniors

Karen Jensen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jensen, and Evette Haley the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williams. Both are Phoenicia residents and both are seniors at Onteora High School. Deeply interested in photography, they have learned from the photography course offered at Onteora.

The Phoenicia Library feels the exhibit will prove interesting and unusual for the viewing public; hopes it will lead others of any age group engaged in any field of artistic endeavor to share their accomplishments with the community. Says the Art Committee: any request or suggestion for a future show will be most welcome if sent to the committee at the Phoenicia Library.

Five Top Dramas

The schedule of five dramas of the Hollywood Television Theater's season on the Public Broadcasting Service, first Tuesday of each month, January through May, is: Lillian Hellman's version of the French play, "Montserrat"; Hugh Wheeler's Broadway comedy, "Big Fish, Little Fish"; a repeat of last season's Saul Levitt drama, "The Andersonville Trial"; "Poet Game," an original by Anthony Terpiloff; "U.S.A.," Paul Shyre's dramatization of John Dos Passos' novels about the first 30 years in 20th century America.

"YOUR SHIELD OF SECURITY"

ALI MACGRAW and RICHARD BENJAMIN share a romantic interlude in a lakeside gazebo in "GOODBYE, COLUMBUS." The movie, based on the novel of the same name by Philip Roth, is back in Kingston for a re-run; is currently featured on the double bill at Mayfair Theatre.

MOVIES

WUSA

Any film boasting the talents of Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward has to have something going for it. "WUSA," now playing at Kingston's Community is short on humor, but heavy on message. Newman, who also produced the movie, obviously had good intentions. His efforts have gone toward pointing out the dangers of a present day leaning in the direction of fascist elements in our society.

As a fascinated student of the paramilitary right whether in the form of the Ku Klux Klan, the Minutemen or the John Birchers, we found much to interest us in the film. Others may write it off as the work of Hollywood's "bleeding liberals," but as a homegrown Southerner we can personally attest to the truth and realism of more than one scene.

WUSA are the call-letters of a conservative New Orleans radio station. As owned by actor Pat Hingle, who wears a million dollar wardrobe in the film including solid gold wrist watch and cuff-links, the station is being used to manipulate rightwing rednecks. Newman portrays Rheinhardt, an itinerant disc jockey and alcoholic opportunist, who is hired by the station. A lost soul, he becomes romantically involved with Joanne Woodward, another lost soul who works for a pimp.

Faces Up to Subject

While WUSA may well emphasize too many stereotypes—Tony Perkins as a moralistic social worker, Hingle as a super-patriot, Newman as the resident cynic, Woodward as the timeless prostitute, Laurence Harvey as a quack minister, Moses Gunn as the black exploiter of the blacks, and Bruce Cabot—in an exact copy of one of Tom Mix's original western outfits—as an aging Western movie star involved in patriotic causes, it deals with American fascism fairly openly.

Before it all ends in a super-patriotic rally that winds up in murderous mass violence, Newman has managed to charm of finding his old Marine Corps buddies (at least the female segment) yet again. Miss Woodward has reexerted her duped into driving stolen cars, and Perkins automobiles by Pat Hingle, has proved the psycho of the meets up with sexy Carol Lynly, hippie college student Tisha Sterling, and about-to-be married to a Marine Kim Darby.

Beyond the message, we were intrigued with one sequence filmed in New Orleans' historic Preservation Hall. If, like this writer, you're a lover of true Dixieland jazz, this scene alone is worth the price of admission.

Norwood

Featured on the double bill with "WUSA" at the Community is "Norwood," reuniting Glen Campbell and Kim Darby of "True Grit"—and introducing Joe Namath.

Glen plays a former Marine home from Vietnam and not too happy with the prospect of resuming his job at the local filling station in a tiny Texas town. He's got big eyes to sing and strum his guitar on TV:

It's all good, clean, wholesome fun and, before it's over, the three top stars have all done what they do best. Glen sings and plays his country-western music; Kim wins his heart as nice "Miss Clean;" and Super Joe Namath is super as a joking playboy womanizer. They're all fun to watch, but Joann, the Wonder Hen—a chicken featured as an attraction in a Penny Arcade—almost steals the picture.

Goodbye, Columbus

Back for a rerun on the double feature bill at Kingston's Mayfair currently is this critically acclaimed film, based on the novella by Philip Roth.

A memorable movie, it is one of the finest to record the growing-up process of young Americans in the '50s. Talented Richard Benjamin stars as a young librarian who falls in love with a girl far removed from his financial class. A country club setter, she's played by the attractive Ali MacGraw. Also in the excellent cast are Jack Klugman as the girl's father and owner of a money-making kitchen and bathroom sink business. His nouveau riche son is played by Michael Meyers, who's almost too good to be true as a former basketball hero at Ohio State.

A stunningly conceived film, alternately tender, funny and sad, "Goodbye, Columbus" is

A SKATING PARTY LAST WINTER IN HIGH FALLS
(Freeman photo by Haines)

Skating on History

Young skaters are alerted to an ice skating contest to be held on the 5,000 foot water-filled section of the old D & H Canal at Alligerville.

Plans are being finalized by the Delaware and Hudson Canal Historical Society, sponsors of the event, so that all skaters will be registered by the time suitable ice is formed.

Lee Timmer, social director and skating professional at the Granit, is rounding up judges from the ranks of skating pros at Ulster and Sullivan County resorts. Awards are being assembled also.

"Natural" skaters who wish to compete in the amateur event may contact Paul Sturges of Stone Ridge, Canal Society president, for further information and registration data.

Area Author Completes Novel

Bloomington author George Montgomery recently finished his third novel, entitled "Without A Song." The plot of the book revolves around several young people and their struggles and triumphs in modern society.

Writer Montgomery has authored several books of poetry in addition to his novels. Among them were "The Mary Jane Papers" and "Moonblood," published several years ago in Cleveland and New York City. His previous novels were "Angel Turk" and "He Who Passes Through."

Montgomery's poetry has appeared in the London Times, University of Tampa Review, East Village Other, and an anthology published by Random House and entitled, "Poems From The Third World."

Belying his poetic bent, Montgomery has served in both the Army and the Air Force, where he played football. In addition to his reputation as a writer of poetry, he is known for his poetry readings in Manhattan and this area; has also read his poetry from the Hudson River sloop, The Clearwater. Among his recent outside interests was serving as one of the promoters of the wrestling matches in New Paltz this fall.

A Holiday Feast From the 1700's

One - hundred twenty - five oysters, 15 pounds of beef, 25 pigeons for a succulent pigeon pie, New Years cakes rolled out on boards as much as two feet long . . . Does this sound extravagant to your holiday feast?

These are extracts from Schuyler family recipes dating back to the 1700's. Philip Schuyler was an illustrious and well-to-do upstate New Yorker. His mansion, the Pastures in Albany, reflects an elegance and bounty that only a few could afford in Revolutionary times.

General Schuyler entertained General Burgoyne after Burgoyne's defeat at Saratoga, and the Britisher later reported on the lavish hospitality to the House of Commons. When Elizabeth Schuyler married Alexander Hamilton at the Pastures in December 1780, it was an outstanding social event.

Today, Schuyler Mansion is open to the public under the jurisdiction of the New York Historic Trust. Visit there for an intriguing glimpse of our historic past.

Hand Painted Dolls, Horsedrawn Carriages Among Museum's Toys

When children living in the 19th century wrote a letter to Santa, what did they have in mind? Toys and games mainly, just like children of today. Many of these can be seen at the State Museum in Albany in a Christmas season exhibit of Victorian era toys from the state history collection.

Some of the toys a little girl would wish for today are there — dolls, a doll's stroller, and games. Somewhat different are those for boys — miniature carriages, circus and farmyard animals and equipment, and old-fashioned ice skates.

John Watson, principal curator of the Office of State History who aided in the selection of the exhibit items, pointed out that a primary value of antique toys to historians is as "culture indicators of their time." While toys for girls remain much the same in kind, the manner in which they were produced was quite different. Dolls' faces were hand-painted, and wooden furniture was usually hand-crafted in the 19th century because labor was comparatively cheap.

Typical Then, Too

Reflecting the commonplace scenes of a boy's life in the 19th century, his toys were indicative of the conveyances and implements of his time, just as space toys and streamlined cars of today are typical now. The materials of which they were made are likewise significant. Cast iron (which was cheap, plentiful and easy to work with) was used extensively as were paper, wood and tin. Today's toy maker makes great use of plastics which he shapes in high-speed assembly-line techniques.

One need not be a child to enjoy the Albany State Museum display. The older one is, the more familiar these objects will be, says a museum spokesman. The sight of an original, exquisite China doll may be irresistibly nostalgic, or a set of circus animals may prompt a sentimental journey in reverie. What better occupation could one engage in anyhow — at Christmas?

Season's Greetings I For Holiday Panorama

With a kaleidoscope of color and lively images, the Department of Visual Arts at Ulster County Community College invites students, faculty and staff, friends and public alike to come celebrate the holiday season with a special exhibition of student art work.

All are invited to "Season's Greetings I," the newly opened art exhibit on the Stone Ridge campus, focusing on new directions in the Visual Arts. The show, which will run through Dec. 24, displays for exhibit and sale at holiday time the work of art students at the college.

Says Ruth Muroff, chairman of UCCC's Visual Arts Department: "The students partici-ating in this show wish to communicate the holiday atmosphere of hope, good cheer and peace."

It does all that with its one-of-a-kind pieces, fascinating ideas for gifts, textiles, paintings, woodcut prints, and ideas of unusual interest designed by students. Adding color to the gallery scene are a number of festive-looking banners and wall hangings.

All works on exhibit are available for purchase. And anyone who goes to take a look will certainly be able to choose his own version of the holiday message.

Overall, the show is a panorama of design that suggests the spirit of the season; is well worth a visit to the Stone Ridge campus. You'll find "Season's Greetings I" in the Visual Arts Gallery in the John Burroughs Science Building on the college campus.

Everywhere: The Glow

the Christmas story, acted out by tiny figurines. In another, a cornucopia of largesse to eventually find its way under a hundred trees. Others depict snow scenes; themes of joy, beauty, festivity; treasure troves for children; and pageantry.

In churches everywhere, choirs lift their voices against organ backgrounds and, emblazoned against hundreds of facades, tall Christmas trees stand.

A Shy Kiss

In one toy department, a little boy fills a store Santa's ear with a not-too-truthful story of what a good fellow he's been all year, and thus deserving of new ice skates and a racing car set. But in another, a little girl bestows a shy kiss on Santa's cheek—too tongue-tied to ask for a doll, but possessed of feminine wiles enough to know how to get on his good side.

People stop on snowy streets to gaze at the cascade of light that envelops the night—and the lights glow back like jewels set in a matrix of mortar, or glass or steel.

In the smaller specialty shops, there is a quiet and warmth that contrasts strongly with the noise and frenzy of the big stores. In one, a girl hums "White Christmas" as she ties ribbons on multi-colored candles and sets them in place on their bright green bases.

Inside store after store, business is brisker than at any other time of the year and, outside, the air is cold and the lights twinkle everywhere. They seem softened and subdued by the season and, in turn, seem to blanket the noise of traffic and the hectic pace of shoppers.

Home again and preparing to unload the car, we glance up the road to a neighbor's house. A reindeer prances across a lawn and a hand-lettered sign offers its message of "Happy Holidays." There is every reason to believe they will be. (T.G.)

MOVIES

moving film fare; also boasts the most unroarious wedding scene ever recorded on celluloid.

The Sterile Cuckoo

On the double bill with "Columbus" at the Mayfair is "Sterile Cuckoo," an offbeat and intriguing film offering an appealing and memorable performance by Liza Minnelli. She is totally refreshing in this rerun that won her an Academy Award nomination for her role as a kooky college freshman.

Wendell Burton is fine as the studious young man attracted to the nutty but lonely girl. Their short-lived love story is played out against the beautiful scenery of upstate New York on the Hamilton College campus where the film was shot.

One of the best movies to come out of Hollywood in 1969, "Cuckoo" is well worth seeing a second time.

I Walk the Line

Johnny Cash, hailed by a few million fans as the most dynamic and magnetic performer in the U.S. today, sings seven of his own songs on the sound track of "I Walk the Line," the film now featured at the Rosendale Theatre—and starring Gregory Peck, Tuesday Weld, Estelle Parsons and Ralph Meeker.

"I Walk the Line" is the story of a Tennessee sheriff (Peck) who compromises his own integrity when he becomes enamored of the young and senuous daughter (Miss Weld) of a moonshiner (Meeker). The Johnny Cash songs are supposed to spell out the tragedy and conflict in the film. Their titles will give you a clue about the agonized emotions that pervade the movie screen: "This Side of the Law," "This Town," "Cause I Love You," "Hungry," "Flesh and Blood," "I Walk the Line" and "Face of Despair."

One's an ode to marital fidelity—something that falls by the wayside when sheriff Peck finds with his mountain Lolita what he had missed out on with his wife (Miss Parsons). The others underline the fact that Peck plays a different kind of sheriff in this picture—a rural southern law officer lacking in strong purpose and high integrity and trying to escape an unhappy marriage. His love affair with a younger woman leads him steadily to compromise his professional responsibilities and moves him into conflict and tragedy.

What Peck is in this one is a man in a fix. You'll either understand his problem and relate to it with sympathy, or you won't—depending on whether you like him Lincolnesque or infatuated beyond his depth.

Joe

Now in its final week of a lengthy run at the Roosevelt in Hyde Park is "Joe," almost unusual movie about a bigoted hardhat. As played by Peter Boyle, a newcomer to the screen who proves himself a first-rate actor, Joe is a man of raw hatred.

The film is often savage (as in a murderous confrontation between Joe, an adman friend and a household of flower children), but it is also a fascinating social commentary on today. Boyle is superb as a performer, the film says something very important about modern day America, and the production boasts high creative imagination.

Other Choices

MONTEREY POP. Back for a rerun at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema is this documentary of the Monterey rock festival, which held the title of granddaddy of them all until Woodstock came along. Mostly for the young, it was filmed back in the summer of 1967; has some esthetically and aurally stunning moments. Among the rock stars explored and the groups performing their sounds: Big Brother and the Holding Company with the late Janis Joplin, Scott McKenzie, the Mamas and the Papas, and the late Otis Redding and many, many others.

THE BABY MAKER. Strangely sensitive film based on what could have been a distasteful theme. Now at the Orpheum in Saugerties, it begins with a hippie girl being summoned to meet the couple whose baby maker she will be in view of the wife's sterility. Things could have turned sordid but, instead, the movie is a tender comedy-drama with superb acting by Barbara Hershey (the bad girl of "Last Summer") as the baby maker, and Collin Wilcox-Horne and Sam Groom as the devoted but childless couple. Superb, too, is Scott Glenn as the girl's boyfriend. With intelligence and humanity, the script says much about enduring relationships, mutual respect between adults, and human relationships.

SEXUAL FREEDOM IN DENMARK. Hey, there, Santa Claus! The New Paltz Cinema is paving the way for your arrival with something less than joyous holiday fare. This clinical study of the history of sex from the pornographic drawings of the ancients to modern day childbirth might prove palatable after an eggnog or two—but we doubt it. It's really not even for voyeurs, since it's more a study of manners and mores than of exploitation. Dull stuff indeed for the lascivious and non-lascivious alike. Better you should stay home and listen to carols. (By TOBIE GEERT-SEMA).

JANIS JOPLIN, the late, great "Queen of Rock," is one of the major attractions of the film, "MONTEREY POP," documenting the now legendary music festival in California in 1967. Movie's back for a re-run currently at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema.

POTPOURRI

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI

What kinda Santa would we be tagged if we failed to fill Christmas stockings of fellow Freeman Fourth Estaters who work fingers-to-the-quick diggin' out all the news that's fit-to-print? So-o-o...

For Lynn Mulvaney: case of combs, ton of glue, crate of pins to keep herself intact at ALL times. (You knew 'bout Lynn's recent calamity which came-to-pass while doin' doctor-ordered daily dozen?) For Jon Powers: a five-foot-two with eyes of blue who'll share six-pack and good bachelor "home-thawed" meal on Christmas Day. For Walter S. Clark: scissors-sharpener. There'd be lot less "pull" when Mable cuts his hair. For Charlie Tiano: a violin. "Tho known for sports, if truth be told, Charlie's a longhair and studied strings six years (as a boy) to prove it. (With so-o-o much talent, he MUST be Italian.)

For Dottie Narel: a Martha Mitchell doll. Guest speaking engagements can be such a bore unless one has way of acquiring varied, topical subjects. For Irwin Thomas: a book loaded with pretty pictures — Gina Lollobrigida, Goldie Hawn, Raquel Welch, Sophia Loren. For Ed Palladino: his own race, horse. Ed buys so much grain for other owners' "also rans" (nobody's 'perfect'), he might as well feed his own!

For Ira Fufeld: a leather wallet with secret compartment for $10 bill — so well hidden, he'll probably NEVER find it. For Hugh Reynolds: another trip abroad, this time on-the-company, AND a polaroid color camera to share jaunt with management and Guild alike. For Al Cawein: St. Bernard pup. By next deer season, pup'll be grown enuf to carry keg and compass in case Al strays off beaten path.

For Bernie Leahy: (who's been very, very good) a case of scotch and soda. For Knute Beichert (who's HASN'T been very, very good) a case of soda — warm. For Bob Freligh, substantial raise in pay: workin' with Mr. B., he's earned it. For Jim Lawrence: great big bowl of instant soup, preferably with-a-girl-in-it. For Mort Laffin: (greatest wit since Voltaire) a publisher, eagerly waitin' and willin' to put his brilliant quips-to-print.

For Jean Dolan: (Freeman weather gal) a pet groundhog to watch 'n guard so she'll be primed to pre-empt AP forecast of spring. For Tobie Geertsema: a cup of soothing sassafras tea — too many WGHQ Coffee Breaks could cause caffeine quivers — AND a fresh-off-the-market video cassette for visual versions of her weekly Tempo magazine. For Lou Netter: miniature winter-weather golf set to putt a few; must keep in shape so April doesn't find one "green" on-the-green. For Diane Norton: a chance to try her hand at baking in-lieu-of-typin' those Freeman Bandwagon recipes, with best beau Pete Mills geared to sample results. For Peter W. Barrecchia: an "Easy Rider" motorcycle complete with NYP plates. With inflation and all, even managing editors should try to cut climbin' costs, what with two pads, two cubs, and that everlastin' two-car-crave....

High Falls Writer Tells UN's Story

On the cover, flanked by the flags of many countries, the towering, walled with many windows building the world knows as the home of the United Nations. Inside, dozens of other photographs recording highlights of the UN's first quarter-century, including the appearances of Nikita Khrushchev and Ernesto (Che) Guevara. And inside, too, the well-told story of the UN — its dramas, failures and all too infrequent triumphs.

Here is a new and totally worthwhile book, published to coincide with the United Nations 25th Anniversary. Titled simply "The United Nations," it traces the ups and downs of the UN, as witnessed first hand by Edwin Tetlow, British Foreign Correspondent and writer who lives in the historic Peterskill House in the Alligerville area of High Falls.

Author Tetlow knows his subject well. Transferred from Berlin in 1949 to New York by the London Daily Telegraph for which he served as New York Correspondent, he has watched from a "privileged seat" much of what happened in the UN from the days of Lake Success onwards.

From Personal Knowledge

His personal knowledge of many past and present habitues of the UN is great, and the book burgeons with recollections and observations, both interesting and highly readable.

As an historic document, "The United Nations" recalls the many varied and dramatic world events that have taken place since the UN Charter was signed in 1945. Tetlow covers such political highlights and international crises as the Korean War, Suez, Vietnam and the Middle East — and zeros in on Khrushchev, Yakov Malik, Dag Hammarskjold, Trygve Lie, Guevara, Harold Macmillan and others.

With painstaking care, he has re-examined the extraordinary circumstances surrounding the death of Hammarskjold and, drawing upon new facts, comes forth with a shocking possibility to account for it.

Tetlow excels at analysis; probes deeply into the events he describes. Having witnessed most of them first-hand as he recorded them for his reputable British newspaper, he is able to write with balance and objectivity.

This is a significant book of past history that does not shirk forecasts for the future. Tetlow, while acknowledging that UN influence in international affairs has dwindled in recent years, feels it still remains a lifeline to which mankind can turn — perhaps, ultimately, for very survival. He concludes that, through timidity and narrow self-interest, the Big Powers are largely to blame for the UN's failure to fulfill its purpose. Among his forecasts: Communist China and other "outcasts" such as Germany, will not have long to wait for admission to the UN.

As an author of stature, Alligerville's Ed Tetlow brings a lengthy background of foreign correspondent, journalist, war correspondent, political observer and critic to this book. He has covered the United Nations with as much enthusiasm as he covered the Battle of Britain, the Battle of El Alamein and the pursuit of Rommel's forces to Tunis, the invasions of Sicily, Italy, southern France and northwest Europe. He was also on hand in Havana when Batista decamped and Castro's revolution took over; has recorded those events in his book, EYE ON CUBA, published by Harcourt, Brace and World in 1965.

"The United Nations" was published by Peter Owen Limited, London, England; will be published in the U.S. at a future date.

Tetlow has also given much credit in his acknowledgments to another area resident, who was of inestimable help with this latest book. To Denise (Mrs. Wilfred) Springer, he translates "an indispensable credit." (T.G.)

A Look at Show Biz Circa 2070

If NBC's Bill Cosby is as good a prophet as he is a performer, the future is going to be very unfunny indeed for comedians-to-come.

Cosby is the author of a fantasy story entitled "This One Will Kill You" in the January issue of Playboy Magazine (on sale this week). This is a weird, wild black-humorous forecast which sardonically envisions the show business of 2070, when comics play for eight hours to live audiences of 487,000 in huge bowl theatres with bubble-tops made of leftover helmets from World War IX.

Cosby's rich imagination conceives a society in which a comedian really deserves his

$3,000,000 fee for one night's work, since he has to cope with screaming hordes of 12-year-old totally bald groupies, autograph hunters by the thousands, and audiences more than slightly violent in their expressions of affection and/or criticism.

It may or may not be significant that Cosby nowhere alludes in the story to the television of the future.

If any.

ERNESTLY SPEAKING

HAPP-EE NEW YEAR!

Without fear of successful contradiction (as the political orators say) I can promise that some 200 lucky celebrants are in for a whale of a time at ROBERTO'S New Year's Eve Party. How could it be otherwise, when you consider that from 9:30 P. M. of Thursday, Dec. 31st, until the sun peeps the New Year in over the Hudson, ROBERTO'S will be dedicated to the pleasuring of folks who made reservations for this event.

It goes without saying that the New Year's Dinner, in true ROBERTO'S tradition, will be tops: Prime Sirloin Steak with all the blue chip trimmings fore and aft. And, naturally, there will be Hats, Noisemakers, Souvenirs, Balloons and festive touches.

But a new addition will be a dance floor, to give you a chance to dance to the music of Mark Garrison and his brother, John; they also will spark the periodic "Sing Along" sessions. But somewhere in the midnight to dawn sector (we'll play it by ear!) will come the most unusual New Year's Eve Floor Show ever put on by a restaurant . . . master-minded by Mark Garrison and featuring most of the talented ROBERTO patrons who make every Saturday Night an all-star "Soiree" in the Cocktail Lounge.

For all this happy-making hoopla, the tab will be just $10 per person (exclusive of gratuities and tax, of course.); that just has to be about the biggest bargain since the Dutch got Manhattan Island for twenty-four bucks worth of beads.

SCENE AT ROBERTO'S

What a great party that was . . . the Bernie Singer Testimonial Dinner for the benefit of Multiple Sclerosis! As arrangements-maker John Chontos said in his note, there were too many guests to mention here, but for sure they were the cream of two counties. Thanks, John, for the compliment on the food and service; it's always nice to serve nice people . . . Celebrating an Anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buono, of the Country Inn, Quarryville, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Geno Pavinato of the same town . . . A satisfied sextet were Mr. and Mrs. John Mauro and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Berardi, with Miss Connie Berardi and Miss Marie Guido (they told me so!) . . . The dining room wouldn't look right any Saturday night without Bob and Shirley Westfall, Warren and Barbara Spinnenweber, and Wilber and Vi Matthews . . . Another fabulous Party that makes ROBERTO'S proud was the Annual Christmas Party of The Ladies' Auxiliary #130, of the United Commercial Travelers of America, with 40 in attendance. I can't name them all, but I do want to thank Mrs. David Gruberg, Chairman, and Mrs. Samuel Feldman, Co-Chairman; Mrs. George Reicher, Gift Chairman and her Assistant Chairman, Mrs. Robert Smith; Mrs. Vance Hogan, treasurer, the lady who pays the bill, and especially Mrs. Julius Kuschner, Senior Counselor, whose knowledgeable compliment on the party was a big plus for me. * * * And, of course, a lot of the "Legion Court Regulars" were around: Mrs. Perry and Cookie, George and Martha, the Griggs, the Henrys, the Ken Strattons, the Bob Wojciehowskis, . . . Augie, to be sure . . . I'll have to cut the list short to save room for a few important bits of

MISH AND MASH

By all means, don't forget that ROBERTO'S will be closed both Christmas Eve and Christmas Day . . . which makes Wednesday the 23rd the most important Dining-Out Day of that Holiday Week; lots of Dinner Reservations already on hand . . . it's worth giving up our usual Wednesday day-off for the occasion . . . about

NEW YEAR'S EVE: Our regular Dinners, at regular prices, will be served to all comers up 3 P.M. or so . . . leaving us time to set up around 9:30 for the "Party People." * * * If you have any last minute occasion for a special Holiday Party, call me; we can always take care of a few more; and on these celebrative pre-Christmas days, there's undeniable truth to the old saying: "The More The Merrier." * * * DON'T FORGET ABOUT LUNCHEON! You have Monday thru Wednesday to do some merry midday munching at ROBERTO'S next week . . . SHOPPERS, ATTENTION: Before or after making the rounds of the stores for those last minute gifts (and who doesn't?) join the Lunch Bunch at ROBERTO'S, check your packages, slip off your shoes and have a leisurely meal; it'll do wonders for you! * * * SATURDAY NIGHT the usual off-the-cuff "Saturday Night Soiree" will be in extra fine fettle . . . tuning up for the New Year's Eve Show! * * * That's the story for this week, and just in case we don't see you before the 25th, please let ROBERTO and me extend, right now, our sincere wishes for your happy holiday: Merry Christmas, Buon Natale, Feliz Novedad, Frohe Weinacht . . . and to our Jewish friends, a Happy Chanukah. Any way you say it is great . . . if you mean it.

For New Year's Eve: Vaudeville Hisses

"Curse you Jack Dalton," he cries, with venom in his voice. Boos. Hisses. Applause. The curtain falls, falls, and falls some more — finally crashes into the scenery.

Disaster? Not at all, for the little fat man wearing suspenders and a straw hat jumps onto the stage to play jigs on the fiddle and crack corny jokes. By the time he's finished, the stage crew has repaired the curtain.

Vaudeville between the acts, called olios, have been a part of melodramas for a long time. When the olios begin, anything goes; even a fallen curtain is acceptable. Olios can cover scene changes, breaks between the acts, and breaks in the set; they often parody the serious business of the melodrama. The chase through the audience, itself a part of the melodrama, is perhaps the oldest of all melodrama olios.

Song, Dance, Comedy

"Rags to Riches," the Performing Arts of Woodstock's melodrama opening New Year's Eve at Woodstock Town Hall, features numerous song, dance, and musical comedy routines throughout the breaks in the show.

Seventeen people, including seven members of the regular "Rags to Riches" cast, dance, and croon through seven old-time melodies and two original comic operas. They will be aided by the madcap ragtime piano of Donna Eastman.

Donna, a music teacher at George Washington School, will also provide "fake-it" musical background throughout the show. "Fake-it" piano includes rag-time, filling out whistled tunes ("Hey, do you know this one?") into fully arranged pieces, turning any phrase of music into something villainous, heroic, sad, or hectic, and generally punctuating the action with crashing major and minor chords.

Olio Heroines

Many of the "Rags to Riches" olios feature a dance hall chorus, which does everything from precision kick-line dances to opera to just standing about and looking lovely. Included in this group are Lori Waterous, Dinah Carlson, and Naomi Katze, all students at Onteora. Naomi appeared last spring in PAW's children's show, "Servant of Two Masters."

Also in the olio chorus are Verna Jorgenson of Woodstock, Barbara Simon, a speech therapist in Kingston, and Veronica Seabrook, a technical writer at IBM. In addition to their chorus numbers, Verna, Barbara and Veronica all appear as heroines in various olios.

Mark Weinberg stars as the hero in two comic operas, as a baggy pants comedian, and as the Master of Ceremonies for the show. Mark lives in High Falls and is a technical writer for IBM.

Bonnie Manka of Woodstock, a member of the Board of PAW, will star in an original comic opera olio as Domino, a little flower from Mexico. Keith Christian of Kingston plays several comic roles including one slap-stick bit of business where he is literally slapped all over the stage. Keith also appears with the chorus and Mark Weinberg in a big production number of "While Strolling Through the Park One Day."

Hisses and boos will be in order for Larry Shufeldt, who steps out of the melodrama but not out of character, to play the evil landlord in a comic opera olio. Larry has appeared in many previous PAW productions, including "Brecht on Brecht" and "Banana Thief," and is a past-president of PAW.

Street Urchin Roles

Will Weidman, who attends Onteora, and Kim Herald of Woodstock, carry over their melodrama street-urchin roles to a song and dance number.

Kim also stars in a song about the tainted good-fortune she acquires later in the show. Kim has appeared at the Woodstock Playhouse in "Oklahoma" and in "My Fair Lady."

The villainess of the evening, Mary White, will sing "I'm More to be Pitied than Censored," a tender tale that describes her rise to ruinous fortune. Mary lives in Bearsville and teaches English at Onteora. Mary's husband, Kenn White, the downfallen father of the "Rags to Riches" cast, along with Riches" script.

The show opens New Year's Eve at Woodstock Town Hall and continues with seven additional performances: a 2 p.m. matinee on Saturday, Jan. 2, and evening performances at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Jan. 8, 9, 10 and 15, 16, 17. For further information, call 679-2514 or 679-2114.

From Vaudeville Family

Rick Richards, who appeared in the PAW production of "Pick-pocket" and "Servant of Two Masters," is the director of the olios. An extremely talented individual, Dick grew up in a family of vaudeville performers. He composed some of the comic operas which will be seen in the olios. His goal in selecting and directing the olios is to achieve a fast musical comedy pace between the acts and to recreate the atmosphere of the vaudeville-melodrama era of the theater. The olios are also intended to heighten several of the characters in the cast by presenting actors, in character,
